Billerica Man Killed in Auto Accident

Walter F. Dupuis Meets Instant Death When Automobile Turns Turtle Near Billerica Centre

DEMOLISHED FORD CAR IN WHICH WALTER F. DUPUIS WAS KILLED

Walter F. Dupuis of Rogers street, No. Billerica, was instantly killed at 6:40 o'clock this morning when his automobile turned turtle on the Billerica-Bedford road near the South cemetery, about one mile from Billerica Centre. Dupuis, two companions, Martin Coffey of Walnut street, North Billerica, his brother-in-law, and Patrick Collins, also of Walnut street, were but slightly injured.

Walter F. Dupuis

The party was traveling towards Concord, where Dupuis' two companions are employed, with Dupuis driving. At the South cemetery Dupuis seemed to lose control of the car, according to his companions, because of the roughness of the road, and the machine rolled over twice. Dupuis' head was caught between the side of the car and the ground, completely severing the upper portion of his head. The accident was seen by Albert Bolton, crossing tender for the Boston & Maine railroad at the Concord road, about 50 feet from where the machine turned turtle. He notified Dr. Buck and Chief of Police Henry Livingston of Billerica. Rev. Fr. Geswell of St. Andrew's church, North Billerica, was also notified. Dr. Buck notified Medical Examiner M. A. Alling and the latter visited the scene of the accident and ordered Dupuis' body removed by Undertakers James P. O'Donnell & Sons of this city. Insofar as is known, Bolton was the last person to see Dupuis.

Maher, of Lowell, Mass., careened off the front mudguard of a sedan, and struck another touring car head-on. The driver of the second touring car, Mrs. E. M. Goodrich of Stockton, Springs was thrown out and received a sprained wrist. The touring cars were badly damaged.

WAS ASSAULTED IN POOL ROOM

Felix Medzwekas of 75 Union street, reported to the police last night that he had been assaulted in a Gorham street pool room by an unknown man last Saturday night about 10 o'clock. He said his assailant brandished a gun, but did not attempt to shoot. He believes the man works in the Burgess-Lang building and can be identified by two witnesses. The police went to the place in question this morning, but failed to locate the alleged assailant.

MILL CLOSING REPORT DENIED

It was reported today that a portion of the Appleton company had been closed indefinitely, but the report was denied this noon by Agent Bowen, who stated that the rumor amounted to the fact that some 10 or 12 ballers employed in the mill were laid off temporarily this morning. He said the slight curtailment is due to the changing over of work on the machines and will last but a few days. The greater part of the mill, he said, is running on full time and with a full complement of help.

Imposition of Censorship in Germany Suggests Things Going From Bad to Worse

Reports From Bavaria Say Royalist Sentiment Moving Towards Monarchy

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The imposition of a censorship in Germany, applying to the foreign correspondents as well as to the German newspapers, has had the natural result of increasing the belief here that things in the Reich are going from bad to worse. Nothing is contained in the numerous Berlin dispatches in the morning newspapers to suggest any serious developments. Full details of the revolt at Kues-trin are lacking, but reports received in London indicate the probability that the affair was somewhat trivial. In any event, the capture of Kues-trin, according to some of the commentators here, would itself be of comparatively small consequence.

The chief anxiety of the moment continues to center in Bavaria where royalist sentiment is supposed to be moving rapidly towards the re-establishment of the monarchy.

PEP APLENTY AT ROTARY

Dr. H. E. Davis Reports on Poland Spring Conclave of New England Rotarians

Lowell Rotary club held a rousing meeting at the Boy club following the regular weekly noon-day luncheon today. Harry Pollard was president of the day and kept things humming from start to finish. Dr. H. E. Davis, president of the club, told of the annual conclave of New England Rotarians at Poland Springs which he, with several other Lowell Rotarians, attended last week. Dr. Davis' report was comprehensive and interesting, sufficient humor being injected in his narrative of the delegation's travels to command the strictest attention of all present.

About 100 Rotarians and guests were at the dinner. F. E. Jones, druggist, was awarded a prize for proving himself the busiest Rotarian present. Robert Thomson took honors for having the softest snap. Three visiting Rotarians from Nashua acted as the judges. The chairman called upon several of the others to make their claims for the championship and some interesting speeches with humorous side remarks were the result.

The Rotary club hall, it was voted, will be held this year on Dec. 28 at Lowell Memorial Auditorium.

Commander Joseph A. Molloy of Lowell post, American Legion, told his fellow Rotarians of a recent visit to the Veterans' bureau hospital at Rutland and urged those with time to spare to offer short auto rides to the convalescent soldiers whenever possible.

Secretary Ray Purchase's badge, as big as the average sunflower, was the target of many sage remarks as it was noted on his lapel while he took the attendance slips at the door.

Oklahomans Cast Ballots as Sheriffs Stand Ready to Quell Rioting or Prevent Effort to Stop Voting

MODERN PIED PIPER COMES TO RID LOWELL OF ITS RATS

H. T. Pitts of Buffalo, Backed by Federal and Local Health Authorities, to Launch Three Weeks' Campaign Tomorrow—Says This City Has as Many Rats as Men, Women and Children—Hopes to Kill Them All

A modern Pied Piper came to Lowell today and for the next three weeks will wage unrelenting warfare against the city's thousands of rats. He is H. T. Pitts of Buffalo, N. Y., time working according to approved methods of the United States health service and is launching his local campaign with the strong endorsement of the Lowell board of health. Thousands of rats in Lowell? Yes, and breeding rapidly. The 115,000 rats here today will be many more in a few years unless some means are taken to rid the city of them. And so along comes H. T. Pitts, the 1923 edition of the Pied Piper, not to charm the rats into following him out of the city, but to run them ragged and literally chase them to death.

The use of barium carbonate in killing rats, according to Mr. Pitts and government investigators, is the most efficient method of solving the problem. In small quantities it is absolutely harmless to domestic animals, yet kills rats in from 7 to 20 hours. It is a mineral compound, odorless and tasteless, and when used in various sorts of bait does not excite the suspicions of the rat tempted by the food.

During the next few days some interesting phases of the local campaign are expected to develop results that will show successful progress here. Mr. Pitts will begin active work tomorrow and will accept invitations to visit dwelling houses, stores, factories and office buildings. He can be reached by telephoning the health department office at city hall, Phone 549.

In every instance after he has completed his work he will explain his method to those in charge of the places where he has worked so that it can be continued to the end that the premises will be cleared of the vermin.

VOTE TONIGHT ON SAGO-LOWELL BRIDGE

Councillor John J. McFadden said today he will favor the order granting to the Sago-Lowell Co. the right to erect a bridge over Dutton street which will be before the council for action tonight. His affirmative vote, coupled with that of Councillor Frank K. Stearns, who is known to favor the idea, will pass it, provided that the "yes" and "no" lineup of a week ago, when 12 members of the council were present, again obtains tonight.

James J. Gallagher, council president, will preside over tonight's meeting and will represent both parts of the municipal family, as he is acting mayor at this time.

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 2, 1923. Mr. Pitts said today he hopes to kill every rat in Lowell. He said that the United States department of agriculture estimates that in all cities there is 2 rat for every man, woman and child and each rodent consumes food costing half a cent a day. At this rate $75 worth of food is consumed daily in Lowell, estimating the rat population at 115,000.

WILL OBSERVE FIRE PREVENTION DAY

Plans for the observance of Fire Prevention day on Tuesday, October 9, are being formulated by Chief Edward F. Saunders of the fire department. In many respects they will be similar to last year's inasmuch as they will include talks on fire prevention at all grammar schools by members of the department to be designated by the chief later this week.

This day is more for teaching means of preventing fires than combating them, and for this reason the greater bulk of information imparted is for children, whose carelessness many times is responsible for destructive conflagrations.

The school department will co-operate with the firemen in the observance of the day and will make arrangements for assemblies of pupils.

Former Nurse Suffered 20 Years From Stomach Trouble O'Brien's Gives Relief

Here's a Letter of Particular Interest to Those Who
Have Tried Other Remedies Without Success

Think of a woman—a nurse, too—undergoing treatment for stomach disorders over a period of 20 years without obtaining relief. Remedies of all kinds were tried. Stomach specialists, too, doctored her. Still her condition did not improve. Fact is, she grew worse. Got so bad that she was seized with severe cramps after every meal; slept so poorly that her nerves finally gave out. An operation was eventually arranged for.

About this time someone suggested O'Brien's for Dyspepsia—but read Mrs. Bridger's own words:

"I have been troubled with indigestion, nervousness and gastric ulcers dating back for 20 years. After eating I would be attacked by severe cramps. Had spells of nervous crying and

DR. MEYER TO BE QUESTIONED

Refused to Sign Death Certificate for Mrs. Webb Because He Suspected Poison

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Dr. William J. Meyer, the physician who refused to issue a death certificate for Mrs. Charles Webb, wealthy New York society woman, because he suspected that she had been poisoned, is expected to appear before the grand jury today to tell what grounds his suspicions are based upon.

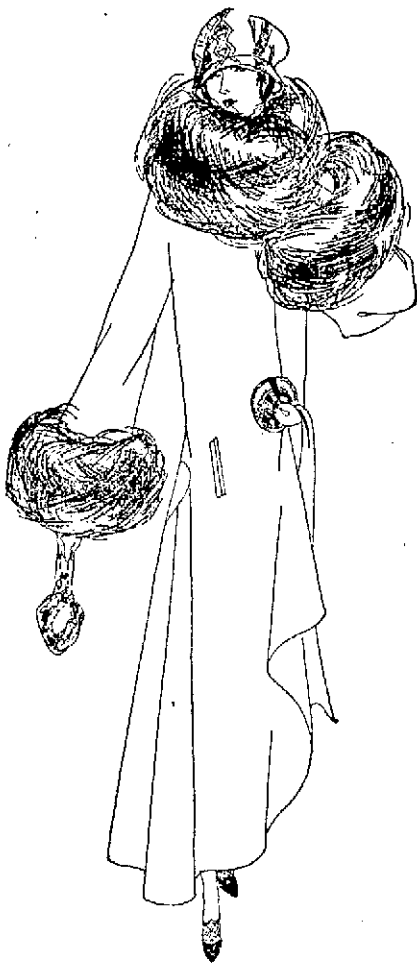

While Dr. Alexander O. Goettler, toxicologist of Bellevue hospital, was seeking traces of poison in the viscera of the woman who died in the fashionable Westchester-Biltmore Country club a week ago, officials primed themselves for a searching investigation should his result affirm the suspicions of Dr. Meyer. A grand jury summons was served upon Dr. Meyer yesterday. While no official investigation has yet been started, Charles Webb, widower of Mrs. Webb, called on District Attorney Rowland yesterday and volunteered to tell all he knew about the alleged mystery. After his visit, Howard Thayer Kingsbury, his attorney, who accompanied him told reporters that he did not believe there was any mystery.

The presence of a short will, signed and leaving all to her husband and another unsigned but making different bequests, was revealed yesterday. Mr. Kingsbury, commenting upon this, said Mr. Webb, appreciating his wife's desires which were set forth in the unsigned will would see they were carried out.

Meanwhile, everything waits upon Dr. Goettler and the conclusion of his chemical analysis.

Allied Occupation of Constantinople Ends

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press) The allied occupation of Constantinople formally ended at noon today. For weeks transports have been evacuating troops and material, while one by one the warships have slipped away, thus making today's function merely a brief military ceremony. The Turkish garrison will enter the city on Saturday.

City Enters the Gasoline Business

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 2.—In an effort to bring gasoline down to what Mayor W. W. Wertz termed a reasonable price level, the city of Charleston has entered the gasoline business as a retailer. The city council last night passed a resolution providing for the purchase of gasoline in tank car lots by the city and disposal of it to all citizens at "actual cost price."

Plane Drops Into River—Airmen Rescued

BRAATTLEBORO, Vt., Oct. 2.—A Curtiss army airplane containing two young men, Henry Rafus of Wilmington, Vt., and Warren White of Mineola, L. I., took a nose dive into West River, near Brattleboro Retreat Landing field shortly before noon today. The plane was damaged, but the two aviators were not hurt. They remained in the cockpit, the water being shallow, until two other young men who saw the accident secured a boat and rescued them. After taking off the pilot turned the machine sharply to follow the course of the river to the Connecticut river, but a strong wind retarded progress so the plane settled until the landing gear struck the water, causing the plane to dive.

ECHOES OF LEO FRANK CASE

Atlanta Paper Publishes Story Declaring Confession Not Fully Investigated

Jim Conley, Who Testified Against Frank at Murder Trial, Named as Real Slayer

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 2.—Echoes of the famous Leo Frank case, were revived here yesterday when the Atlanta Journal published a story declaring a reported confession that a negro, and not Frank, killed Mary Phagan, had been brought to light again with the discovery that the confession had never been fully investigated.

Frank, after his sentence of death had been commuted to life imprisonment by Gov. Shivers, was taken by a mob from the state farm at Milledgeville to a point near Marietta, the home of the slain girl, and hanged. According to the Journal's story, the reported confession was made by a negro believed to be named Freeman when he thought he was dying in the Atlanta federal prison.

The confession, the Journal said, named a negro, Jim Conley, whose testimony in the trial of Frank was regarded as highly instrumental in Frank's conviction as the real slayer. Local officials to whom the confession was reported 10 years ago, declare they remember some details of the affair and recall that after they had failed to make progress in investigating it, they gave it up, believing the confession was false.

75,300 KILLED IN ACCIDENTS

Toll of Human Lives Exactd
in 1922 Increase 2000
Over Previous Year

Statistics of National Safety
Council Announced at
Congress in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Accidents in the United States during 1922 exacted a toll of approximately 75,300 human lives, an increase of nearly 2000 over the previous year, the committee on public accident statistics of the national safety council declared today in its report before the public safety section of the national safety congress which opened here yesterday. The report charged the automobile with the largest entry in the annual accident mortality budget—14,000 for 1922, 18 per cent. of all fatal accidents for that year. In 109 cities throughout the United States in 1922, there were 11.4 deaths per 10,000 cars registered, and 12.8 per 100,000 population, the report said. David Van Schaack of Hartford, Ct., vice president of the council, declared at the opening session of the public safety section that a big opportunity in public safety work lies with the newspapers of the nation. The newspapers, said Mr. Van Schaack, are performing "a most significant service in keeping causes and results of public accidents continually before the public." "An automobile accident is not only news," the speaker declared, "it is a community calamity of the highest importance—another human life needlessly wasted. More stringent enforcement of the laws also lies within the realm of the newspapers as the watchdog of the public interests."

VANZETTI AND SACCO IN COURT

Convicted Slayers Brought
Into Court Handcuffed to
Each Other and to Officers

Counsel for Defense Charge
Foreman of Jury Was
Prejudiced Against Them

DEDHAM, Oct. 2.—Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were brought into the superior court today, handcuffed to each other and to officers, for the second day of the hearing on motions for a new trial for the men convicted of the murder of a factory paymaster and his guard at South Braintree in 1920. William G. Thompson, one of the attorneys for the defense, said that two hours probably would be required for him to finish his argument begun yesterday. Thompson's argument is based on the contention of the defense that Walter H. Riple, foreman of the jury which convicted the two men, was prejudiced against them and that he had improperly carried three bullets into the jury room. Sacco, removed from the state hospital for the insane at Bridgewater after the hospital superintendent informed the court that five months' observation had revealed no trace of insanity, is now a prisoner at the Dedham jail.

More than 400 persons, it is now known, were hurt, at least 100 of whom were detained at the hospitals where they were taken for treatment. It is also believed that many were slightly injured and able to go directly home.

Security Police Dissolved
DUESSELDORF, Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—The security police force of this city, which has been formally charged with entire responsibility for last Sunday's rioting, in which nearly a score of persons were killed and more than 400 injured, has been decreed out of existence by the Chancellor Stresemann. The definite dissolution of the force was announced today by French headquarters. The French troops will continue to police the city until a new German police force has been organized under French direction. This will be done as soon as possible.

What disposition shall be made of the 300 members of the disbanded security force has not been decided, but it is expected their green uniforms will be taken from them and that they will be either expelled from the region or imprisoned for an indefinite period. A revised casualty list compiled by the French shows 11 killed, of whom seven were German civilians, two not satisfied.—Adv.

OPENING OF MIDDLESEX WOMEN'S CLUB

A plan for enthusiasm to make the Middlesex Women's club one of the foremost in the country of its type was made at the season's opening yesterday afternoon by the new president, Mrs. Charles H. Hobson in her maiden address before the club members.

"The work and worth of our club is limited only by its enthusiasm," she said, "and when weeks go by with a meagre attendance the wonderful club spirit is apt to grow somewhat unimpaired. To languish and to lose some of its power. What we most wish our club to attain is a right-minded attitude and to exert a proper influence. When on important subjects we are no longer vague or uncertain and when we become earnest within ourselves, our influence as a club becomes definite, direct and dynamic."

The address of the new president, the high light of this first meeting which was for the purpose of installing the officers for 1923-1924 and allowing the club membership to meet them personally at a reception which followed, was cordially and enthusiastically received and it was felt the club stepped off on the right foot at the start of a new season.

During the reception there was music by a ladies' orchestra and tea was served under the direction of the hospitality committee, Mrs. M. A. Rawlinson, chairman.

Supplementing the president's address was the announcement of the season's program of lectures and concerts so far as it is completed. The dates already arranged are as follows:

GIRLS' CLUB TO PRESENT "OH, OH, CINDY"

Rehearsals on "Oh, Oh, Cindy," the three-act musical comedy to be presented by the Girls' City club, this month, will start very soon. "Oh, Oh, Cindy," from all indications promises to surpass the two other big musical comedies presented by this live-wire local girls' organization, "Springtime" and "Kathleen." Heretofore the productions have been staged at the Opera House but this year the Girls' club has been fortunate in securing the Academy of Music, Fulton street, for the dates of October 25th and 26th. This production will no doubt open the theatre as painters, workmen, etc., are now busily engaged putting the interior and exterior of the house in tip-top shape for these dates. The Academy of Music is an ideal place for the production having a very large seating capacity and more than ample stage room, enabling fine scenic effects and the like. Some of the principal male and female roles for the coming production have been assigned to popular and capable young men and young women thespians and the different groups are being filled as rapidly as possible. All those desirous of taking part in this musical treat are urged to get in touch with those in charge of the show at Girls' City club, Howe building.

As before stated rehearsals are to begin within the next week or two and a finished production is assured the public for the presentation dates October 25th and 26th. "Springtime" and "Kathleen" presented by the Girls' City club last year and the year before were the talk of the town for months afterwards. The Lowell Sun in commenting on "Springtime" said in part: "Seldom, if ever, has amateur talent in this city succeeded in attaining such surprising excellence in plays calling for capable acting and, in addition, dancing, and singing of a high order, and those people who were privileged to see this musical comedy were all of the same opinion that a professional company could hardly have given a more satisfactory presentation."

"Oh, Oh, Cindy" is an up-to-date musical comedy of the first water, replete with comedy, dancing, song and story.

Springfield Woman Gained 35 Pounds

"For a number of years I was the worst, run-down person imaginable," recently stated Mrs. John Lamondia, 39, 1111 Main street, Springfield, Mass.

"When I started taking Tanlac I only weighed one hundred and five pounds, and being unable to do any work, we had given up housekeeping. Everything I would eat made me sick. I could not sleep, had awful spells of palpitation and dizziness and was almost a nervous wreck."

"But now I weigh one hundred and forty pounds and am a perfectly well woman. Of all our six children the last one a boy, is the biggest and healthiest and he was born six months after I began taking Tanlac. We call him 'John Bull' on account of his fine physical condition. Ours is a happy family and I could not say the greatest find of my life."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

IRELAND PARTICIPATES IN CONFERENCE

DUBLIN, Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press) The participation of Ireland in the British imperial conference at London, it is felt here, will have a direct bearing on immediate Irish interests and the attitude to be adopted by the Irish delegation has been exhaustively discussed at a cabinet conference.

"Questions of the political relations of the dominions to the imperial government, will not, it is believed here, be raised. Irish opinion holds that the independence of the various members of the British commonwealth will be greater if these relations are left vague."

On questions of tariffs, the Irish position is said to be similar to that of Canada. The parliament here has not yet arrived at a definite fiscal policy and is merely carrying on temporarily with existing British tariffs where such exist.

A few moments' conversation with a person who has stopped his mental growth and activities will reveal the situation clearly to one who is in the middle of his mental channel and not looking to either shore.

The brain cells may lie dormant for five or even ten years, but they are capable of recuperation beyond almost any other vital organ. They can stage a comeback if provided with mental food.

Food excess will overload the system with poisonous waste products. This is taking blood supply from needed cells and it brings mental laziness.

Beware of psychic apathy. It is easy to drift into physical reaction through a depressed state of mind. Don't look backward and count the years. If you look forward to renewed mental growth, even though you are 60, you may be much younger than your neighbor who is only 20.

Before You Buy Any Mattress

Put the mattress you expect to buy through these question-and-answer paces. Make it measure up to the Derry-Made standard of mattress value. If it does, it's a safe mattress to buy.

Do you know the origin—under what "Working" conditions was it made?

Each Derry-Made mattress comes to you crisp and clean, built in our modern sanitary plant, flooded with country village sunshine and fresh air. Never the faintest taint of sweat-shop making ever clings to your Derry-Made. That's a real comfort, isn't it?

What kind of material is used Inside and Out?

Think of the manufacturer of Derry-Made mattresses as one of the largest producers in America of "fillers"—able and willing and with abundant resources to give "top cream" always in Derry-Mades.

Is it stuffed or blown?

Derry-Made mattresses are built up layer on layer of cobweb thin sheets of elastic cotton—never blown. To our way of thinking a blown mattress is little better than a bag full of cotton. Building the Derry-Made way, multiplies the elasticity of cotton and adds years to its friendly, comforting, sleep-enticing service.

Is it "structurally" reinforced?

Impossible, if it's a shoddy blown mattress. Think of the importance though, of placing extra sheets of cotton so strengthening by a cross-crook structure that uncomfortable hollows, sleep destroying hills and dales are alertly guarded against, in fact, generally unknown in a Derry-Made mattress!

Can tufting stitches pull out?

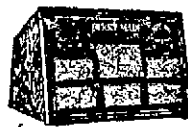

Out the window flies Dreamless Sleep when the tufting breaks down. Tufting holds the mattress filler firmly in position preventing any possible structural breakdown. The placing and number of tufts adds greatly to the natural resiliency of any mattress, as well as insuring its long life. Derry-Made tufting stitches are double-locked. Derry-Made tufts can never pull out.

Is the edge "Hand Roll"?

A small point but almighty important. This edge holds the mattress permanently in shape. Machines are apt to pick up a varying amount of filler, so in some places a machine-made edge, while always nicely uniform, has no filler rolled in, hence becomes useless as guarding against breaking down or sagging. Derry-Made roll edges are always put in by hand.

Last, but not least, can you "measure" it as you buy it?

Derry-Made mattresses are sold the new Derry-Made way—"Inside Out." Read about the filler display cabinet which guarantees your selection of any Derry-Made mattress—makes it possible for you to know exactly what it is you are buying, and gives you one more reason to make your selection this time from one of the honestly made

To Buy Government Passenger Ships

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—A new inquiry from New York shipping interests looking to the purchase of at least part of the government's passenger fleet, was reported to the shipping board at its regular weekly meeting today. Active negotiations are in progress, although they have not reached the point where terms have been submitted. The Harriman lines are understood to be either the initiators or the supporters of the new proposal, which involves the ships now operated by the United States Lines. Specifically, the Leviathan, George Washington, America, Republic and President Harding are mentioned as the tonnage being sought.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

D. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

A first class vaudeville bill is being served at Keith's this week. Six fine acts are all exceptionally pleasing and not one in a line mood to see the attractive picture, handsome Norman Kerry in "Is Money Everything?" It would be hard to pick the feature act of the well-balanced vaudeville card of the week. The Polka Girls, snappy flappers, opened the bill and registered well with the audience. They have a few smart dances and a line of up-to-the-minute flapper talk. O'Brien & Josephine have a fine offering in "The Song Salesman." They are a young couple with a clean line of talk that goes over big. They sing well, look well, and act well. They seem to have a genuine feeling for one another that gets out over the orchestra pit.

Pepto, the Spanish clown, is a star of the first magnitude. He has the best clowning act that the vaudeville stage has seen in years. About twenty minutes of fun while he is on the stage, assisted by a senorita fair to look upon. Pepto actually rides a bicycle that doesn't stand half way up to his knees and that is only one stunt in a bagful of them. His imitations are exceptionally clever.

Carl Nixon, a smooth dancer if ever there was one, is teamed with Miss Gussie Sans in the classiest dancing act seen at Keith's this season. Nixon takes the palm as a strutter, as a personator and as a comedian. He does his stuff in blackface and is a riot from his first appearance to the fadeout.

Tom Hoier presents a neat sketch in "Wanna Make Some Money." Tom is the hero and is going to double $10,000 for his sweetheart in a day. He gets into a truth-telling contest to win the money and ends by invited many complications. Peggy Warner, a sweetheart of a miss, is the girl. Bob McClung and Maitson Arthur lend just the proper balance to a good act.

The Texas four is a smart quartet. The boys were in fine voice last evening and scored a great hit. They are a snappy bunch that put pep in the finishing number of the program and leave everyone in a happy mood for the cinema show. They are all action throughout their appearance and their "Subway" and "Theumatix" songs make great hits.

The motion picture is the story of a young man determined to make money over all obstacles. Mr. Pepto is supported in this picture, which is a good one, by Martha Mansfield and Miriam Cooper.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Mae Murray attains the greatest success of her career as a movie picture actress in "The French Doll," the leading attraction at the Merrimack Square theatre for the first part of this week. She ever thrills audiences with her acting, and she always pleases with a display of the latest Paris creations, but never before has she been so thrilling and so pleasing as in this latest picture.

Scintillating about Mae Murray is a cast of exceptionally fine talent that carries the play along smoothly but leaves to the leading actress the main position under the spotlight at all times.

The story is of a charming, vivacious French girl whose unscrupulous parents. Continued to Page 13

Insurgents in Captivity

KUENTZLIN, Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press) The insurgents, numbering about 100, who yesterday attempted to storm the citadel where the Reichswehr troops are garrisoned, are now in captivity. An attempt by rebels last night to liberate their comrades was repulsed. One of the rebels was killed and several were seriously wounded, while there were no casualties among the Reichswehr troops.

The reinforcements which were hurried to this city from other points yesterday upon the outbreak of the movement have returned to their barracks. The bulk of the insurgents are identified as members of Eurafrica's notorious Baltic brigade and other local nationalist organizations. Their leader, Major Buchrucker, is a retired army officer.

Billericia Man Killed

In Auto Accident

only person to see the accident and his story, as told to The Sun today, is as follows:

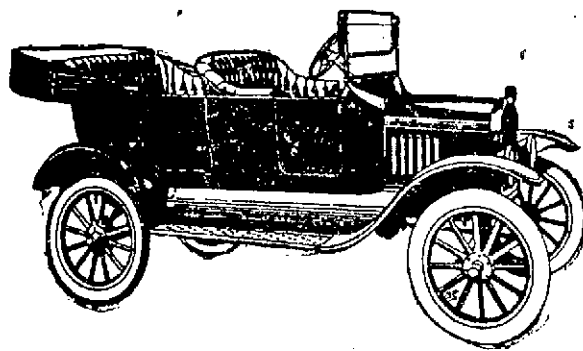

"I was standing in front of my shanty, looking up the road, when I saw this machine come along. It was on the left hand side of the road going about 25 miles an hour when I first saw it and suddenly it turned sharp and came over onto the right side of the road. At this point the road is rough on the right side and the machine bounced quite a bit. Then, without anything unusual happening, as far as I could see, the machine turned almost at a right angle and then rolled over twice, stopping on its side crosswise on the road. I went up to it and lifted a little of the weight off Dupuis' head, but I saw that he was done for. The other men were able to get about themselves after a moment so I stopped a passing machine and had them telephone the doctor and chief of police from a house a short way down the road."

At the point where the accident occurred the road describes what is known as an "S" curve. The right hand side of the road going down is bumpy and it is almost impossible for a speeding machine to take the corner safely. During the past few years there have been numerous accidents at this point due to the curve and the poor road.

Dupuis was employed at the Merrimack Woolen company at the Navy Yard, Duxbury, until a short time ago, when he was laid off because of curtailment. In going to Concord today with his two companions he hoped to get employment on the same job with them.

Dupuis was 42 years of age and married. He leaves his wife, Anna C. Coffey Dupuis; two daughters, Pearl E. and Beryl M.; his parents, Peter and Susan Dupuis of Hinsdale, N. H.; five sisters, Mrs. Joseph Bergeron and Mrs. Henry McGrath of Collisville, Mrs. Joseph W. Lucier, of Gardner, and Mrs. Edward Sweet of Keene, N. H.; five brothers, Ernest of Worcester, Fred of Holyoke, Stephen of West Swanton, N. H., Clifford of South Ashburnham and William of Tilton, N. H. He was a member of the Holy Name society of St. Andrew's church, North Billerica.

The body was removed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Coffey, of Walnut street, North Billerica.

DECLINE IN OUR FOREIGN TRADE

What the newspapers here say of the republican administration, and its tariff and other policies is likely to be discounted by a great many people who too often question the honest conviction of progressive newspapers as biased by partisanship. The fact is undeniable that the republican tariff has reduced our exports and, therefore, lessened the outlet for our manufactured products abroad.

As a result we have an unsettled condition in textile factories and acute depression in the wheat growing belt. The failure of the republican party to put our merchant marine in operation has also helped to reduce our exports and hence when our textile factories find their storehouses filled with no orders in sight, they have to curtail. We can produce enough for the domestic market in seven months; where are we to get a market for what we produce in the other five? We must find a market or close our factories temporarily.

As a result of these two causes mainly, our exports went down in 1922 to the level of 1915, or before we entered the war. If we had an active merchant marine and a moderate tariff, this would not have occurred. Because of the disorganized condition of the European countries, we should have greatly advanced our foreign trade last year; but if on the contrary, through mismanagement we allowed it to fall off, what will be the situation when the European nations get fully rehabilitated from the effects of the war, and when they become more potential competitors in the foreign markets?

It will be interesting to get the opinion of a prominent British official well known here, and probably one of the best judges of the trade and economic situation both here and abroad, that can be found anywhere. After a recent visit to this country, Sir Arthur J. Balfour in discussing the trade rivalry between the United States and England said:

"The cost of living and production in America is so high that I am perfectly certain that except in a few selected articles, we can compete with them for the export trade of the world. They have just passed through a slight slump, but I think they are likely to have a fair internal trade for the next eighteen months.

"America is depending very much on the sale of her wheat crop and her cotton crop to Europe, and has only just begun to realize that other parts of the world are in a position to supply the necessary wheat to England, for instance, and that in view of the Fordney tariff and the manner in which it is restricting trade with them, England is naturally compelled to buy her foodstuffs in markets where she can create a favorable exchange by trading."

That statement explains why our foreign trade has fallen off and why our farmers have lost the foreign market for their products. At present England is holding an imperial conference of the premiers of all her colonies at which the extension of her foreign trade will be one of the main questions discussed. The proposition for extending imperial preference will also be passed upon and doubtless adopted so far as may be practical without injuring England's foreign trade and causing an increase in the price of foodstuffs. But the conference is significant as indicating the efforts of England to extend her trade abroad, while our national policies are calculated, as Mr. Balfour shows, to lessen our foreign trade from year to year.

It is well to have the opinion of such an eminent authority from abroad, particularly on matters so vital to our industrial welfare and on which he is so well informed. England is doing much to extend her foreign trade, while we are doing practically nothing, despite the fact that we have a splendid opportunity. This state of affairs is what is expected to militate against the republican party in the next national election and sweep it from power. The reverses which it has already suffered in by-elections, indicates the growing sentiment of opposition, throughout the greater part of the country. The policy of the democratic party is to cut down the protective tariff, save our merchant marine and get it actively engaged in our foreign trade and also to do what we can reasonably to restore peace in Europe so that the nations will stop preparations for war and get down to business.

MORE LABOR BANKS

Boston is soon to have a bank owned and operated by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, one of the chain of banks being established by organized labor. It is gratifying to find that labor unions have saved up sufficient funds with which to start a bank to the interest of the unions and the depositors. The work of conducting a financial institution of this kind will remove many of the misconceptions that have existed among the unions in regard to the capitalists who are usually prominent in banking and other commercial enterprises. It will be found that the men who have charge of the banks will have to work their brains as intensely as in any other business within the range of human activities. Experience in conducting banking institutions has shown that an error of judgment or lack of conservation may bring financial ruin.

The men who will be placed in charge of the labor banks must, therefore, have experience in such undertakings in order to make them a success. It is estimated that the total resources of the labor banks now in existence in this country amount to $2,000,000 and that before the close of next year, the total will probably be doubled. The dividends to stockholders are limited to from 7 to 10 per cent, and all profits in excess of these amounts will be distributed among the depositors.

CITY SOLICITOR WAS RIGHT

In reference to the bill of $28,000 due the company that repaired the Central bridge, we are surprised to find some people asserting that the city should have paid the bill when the injunction was denied.

Suppose the city paid the bill before the expiration of the twenty days during which the petitioners have a right to appeal and that on the appeal, the supreme court should decide that the city should pay a less amount or reject the bill in toto, how then could the city recover the money illegally paid to the construction company?

City Solicitor Reynolds foresaw this possibility and he was shrewdly protecting the city's interests when he ordered the treasurer not to pay the bill and later secured from the court a restraining order to prevent the sheriff from collecting the money on an execution.

The orders of the court must be obeyed and the city solicitor is the official whose duty it is to protect the city in its legal rights and defend its interests against litigation of all kinds. In this instance he has done so promptly and well and he has not a local paper alleges, attempted to do

He Was Fighting

The old story has been revived of the tall Kentuckian who hurt the feelings of a friend and said as tall. The smaller man began pounding the big fellow in the stomach. The big man looked down and said: "What are you doing there?" The furious small man exclaimed: "I'm fighting, sah, by gad, sah!"

The Tin Can Pile

The early boarder was taking a look around. "Where is the peak?" he asked the farmer pointed a pile of tin cans behind the barn. The new arrival looked at him queerly, but took it calmly and went on: "Well, call it a peak. Still, it isn't much of a peak." The farmer took a fresh chew. "It will be tall enough to more than suit you before the summer is over," said he significantly.

"If there would only go away from this parish we'd give thee a gold 'un!"

Queer Flaming

Sir Frederick Blyden, for over 40 years the resident of Westminster Abbey, tells a story about a lottery which permitted the choice of special numbers on the tickets. A little girl bought a ticket for a lottery, and insisted that she should be allotted No. 23. As she would have no other ticket, her wish was granted, and she won a considerable sum. "Why did you want that number?" she was asked, afterwards. "Well, I had a dream," she said. "I dreamt that I had bought No. 23, and I dreamt it three times. So I said to myself: 'These dreams are 23, and that's the number for me!'"

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

A Lowell lady who has returned from the White Mountains is very much delighted with the beautiful autumnal scenery which she thinks is at its best now. She also tells of the fire that destroyed the Profile House which will be rebuilt on a much larger scale. The Old Man of the Mountain also comes in for "honorable mention" in the following article received by The Sun from the lady in question:

"The recent fire which destroyed the Profile House in the White Mountains did a pretty clean job, as only one person lost his life. The contents of the building, which surrounded it, were saved. In the vicinity of a bell-boy who was pressing clothes with an electric iron left his job hurriedly and forgot to turn off the current which ignited some clothing and quickly communicated to the other rooms in the building."

"The Old Man of the Mountain is one of the greatest wonders of Nature in the world. It projects from the southeastern extremity of Cannon Mountain, 1200 feet above Profile Lake. The hotel was situated between Profile and Echo lakes. It was burned down August 2, 1923 and will be rebuilt immediately. The new Profile House will be a semi-fireproof building, modelled after the finest type of Swiss chalets and will be the finest in New England. Every room will have private bath, telephone and electric lights. A lobby 300 feet long and 50 feet wide with open fireplace, taking a five-foot bay. There will be a huge ball-room and dining room. The foliage about here in late September and up to October 15 is unsurpassed. Echo lake reflects red and gold and could not be gone justice in any picture or painting, as the camera scenes dwarf the mountains."

"The artist from the Wallace Nutting Picture Co. has her headquarters in North Woodstock in a secluded village on a hill. The scenery about here is also wonderful at this time. Owing to the lack of rain, all colors of low bushes and higher trees of variegated hues are seen. Autumn is surely a delight in this vicinity and all coming cars should make a special effort to get up there and enjoy a few days in it open."

Is there anything as annoying as the frequent use of "would-had-could" especially at baseball and football games? Telling is all right, providing one knows the game, but when it comes to having young boys yell insulting words at players, it is about time to have someone stop them. An occasion of this was witnessed at the game between the Celtics and the Cleaves on the North common Sunday.

Although there is no objection to having the children attend movies they should be barred from Sunday afternoon performances. I attended one of the local theatres, Sunday afternoon, and the constant screaming and excessively loud clapping of the children, proved quite a source of annoyance to the older people. When one pays the price of an afternoon's entertainment at a theatre, at least one might expect to sit in peace and quiet during the entertainment.

During this week the people of this city, especially the relatives and friends of high school students, have a golden opportunity to show their interest in high school athletics by contributing to the fund being collected to raise the indebtedness on Alumni field. The sum needed is $3500 and if every high school student collects $1.00, the debt will be wiped out.

Lack of interest in its games has been a great handicap to the local high school football team. At the Nashua game last Saturday there were few rooters from Lowell and the team naturally failed to show its best. Next Saturday Concord, N. H., plays at Lowell and Alumni field should be filled with loyal rooters cheering their team on to victory.

In connection with the drive to clear the indebtedness on Alumni field and to repay the contributors for their generosity, a ticket to the game Saturday will be given to every contributor of 50 cents or more. It is hoped that everyone getting one of these tickets will use it and join with the students in cheering the Lowell team.

Thomas Dixon, author of "The Birth of a Nation" in which he extolled the original Ku Klux Klan for its work during the reconstruction period, has written a new book, entitled, "The Traitor," denouncing the modern Klan. He says that the old Klan at least was not a secret organization in that it published its rituals when its work was completed. "The Birth of a Nation" scored a big hit when movieized, but the producers are a bit skeptical about filming "The Traitor," feeling that it might create disturbances.

Are the people tired of so-called tag days? We earnestly believed, and we think the committee in charge did also, that the Henry F. Sullivan tag day last Saturday would produce much more than $500. It seems that the rank and file have revolted against such affairs, while the office folk and staff clerks came across with their customary good will. Next Saturday, the Lowell Guild, an extremely democratic organization, is to launch a drive and will start activities with a tag day. The great work done by the Guild is deserving of every support and the best way to show your appreciation is by contributing generously to the cause next Saturday.

Despite all that had been said about turning back the hands of the clock one hour last Saturday night before retiring, a great many people were fooled by the change to standard time. The story is told of a Boston family, who started out for church services at 8 o'clock by their household clock and got their vest in time for the final service at 11 o'clock. It happened this way: Mr. X retired early and promptly turned back the hands of the clock. Friend wife, not knowing of the movement, did likewise, turning herself under the sheets, and then to cap the climax, Sister Hannah returning from a party, turned them back once more. Draw your own conclusions!

Over 6000 football fans took in the various football games on local parks last Sunday, proving our contention that the game is for the first time in history. There was a time not long ago, when the spectators of amateur football games in this city consisted of small groups of boys. Nowadays, however, grown-ups have contracted the habit and Sunday games were attended by all classes of people. It's good sport, this football, and it should be proper.

Discoveries only date back a few million years, so first coal strike is not among them.

If they bring these Mongolian fossils into America the things may run for congress.

Had King Tut dresses last winter. Found dinosaurs now. Dinosaurs went naked. Look out!

Seems as if scientists are able to dig up about everything except pre-war prices.

If they go far enough into these Mongolian relics they may find a nickel cigar.

Better bring these scientists back to America and let them try digging for coal.

Dinosaur bones are great big things, so rheumatism must have been terrible in those days.

Of course huge dinosaur eggs were found by egg-sports.

Let the ancient dinosaur had to grow like a cannon after laying eggs six inches long.

Imagine an ancient little boy carefully trudging homeward with an egg on his shoulder.

When huge dinosaur eggs were common, ham and eggs were probably a ham and an egg.

Ancient plumes were had. Think of forgetting the salt for a boiled egg six inches long.

These huge eggs they found are millions of years old. But they found them in a cave.

TAMED

The Wild Bull goes back to the Pampas
(Whatever the Pampas may be),
There ain't so much fire in his lamp as
There was when he came, you'll agree.
He came with his nostrils wide-flaring,
And horns nicely polished to gore,
But there is a change in his bearing,
The Wild Bull ain't wild any more.

The Wild Bull goes back to the Pampas
(Whatever the Pampas may mean),
He wasn't so much of a champ as
He fancied himself, in his bean.
He fought like a Wild Bull, you said it!
He set the fight fans in a roar,
But still, though we give the kid credit,
The Wild Bull ain't wild any more.

The Wild Bull goes back to the Pampas
(Wherever the Pampas may lie),
We see him off over the Daup as
A gritty young Argentine guy.
He put up a fight that was splendid,
But lacking in science and lore,
And Dempsey smiles, "Well, THAT is ended;
The Wild Bull ain't wild any more."

HURLS JUG FROM WINDOW

Woman Accused of Attempt to Destroy Evidence—Jug Failed to Smash

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—When Patrolmen Garret, Higgins and Laidlaw, attached to Capt. Reardon's liquor squad, approached a house in the South End yesterday afternoon, with the intention of searching the house on a warrant, they allege that Mary Taffe, who occupies one of the apartments, hurled a jug containing a half gallon of alcohol out of an upper window.

The jug missed the officers and struck on a pile of dirt, without smashing, and was seized by the officers as evidence. Two other places in the South End were raided by the officers, one being the premises occupied by Sofia Kelsman, where they claim to have seized two gallons of alcohol, after hiding in the cellar for a half hour waiting for a customer to show up so they could follow him in. A raid on the apartment of Gusie Weiner resulted in the seizure of two pints of liquor, the police report.

Despite the fact that several of the members of the squads were on

BOYS HELD FOR ATTEMPT TO KILL TEACHER

WORCESTER, Oct. 2.—Edmund Caskey, aged 17 years, was arrested late yesterday and booked at police headquarters on a charge of assault with intent to kill Miss Anna M. Lee, a teacher at the Cambridge street school.

William Hofskey, aged 17, was charged with being an accomplice. The police charge Caskey fired through the school window at the teacher while Hofskey stood guard. The police claim Caskey confessed he tried to kill the teacher when he and his companion became angered at her refusal to give them money and ordered them from the school room. The police say the boys shot at the teacher. The bullet went through the dress of a pupil and narrowly missed Miss Lee. The boys fled after firing the shot, but were apprehended later from descriptions given on the police.

INTEREST IN BRITISH IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Premier Baldwin began his review of the empire's affairs before the Imperial conference yesterday with a sketch of the history of the reparation problem. It was noticeable that he made no allusion to the British government's view with regard to the legality or illegality of the Franco-Belgian occupation of the Ruhr.

He remarked that what he described as the "honest divergence of opinion" between England and France reflected a difference of temperament and outlook which it would be foolish to ignore, but he added:

"The last 20 years have shown that they are not incompatible with wholehearted co-operation in the face of grave danger. . . . I am aware that the patience we have shown in trying to preserve good relations with France have laid us open in many quarters to charges of indecision and weakness, but at least, it has borne witness not only to our wish to act, in Disraeli's words, 'As a moderating and mediating power' in the councils of Europe, but to an ardent desire to preserve the friendship with France."

The premier would not venture to predict the outcome of the new situation that had developed in Germany, but he promised that Foreign Secretary Lord Curzon would make a more complete statement in the course of the week. Referring to the conclusion of peace with Turkey, he expressed the belief that the Lausanne treaty safeguards all the essential interests of the British empire and brought a spirit of reconciliation to this part of the world.

He then reviewed the steps in the founding of the British debt to America, and said: "The repayment of this debt is going to call for all our energy, but we considered this course an essential preliminary to restoration of the normal economic life of the world. The debts of the great nations must be recognized if the foundations of commercial progress are to stand."

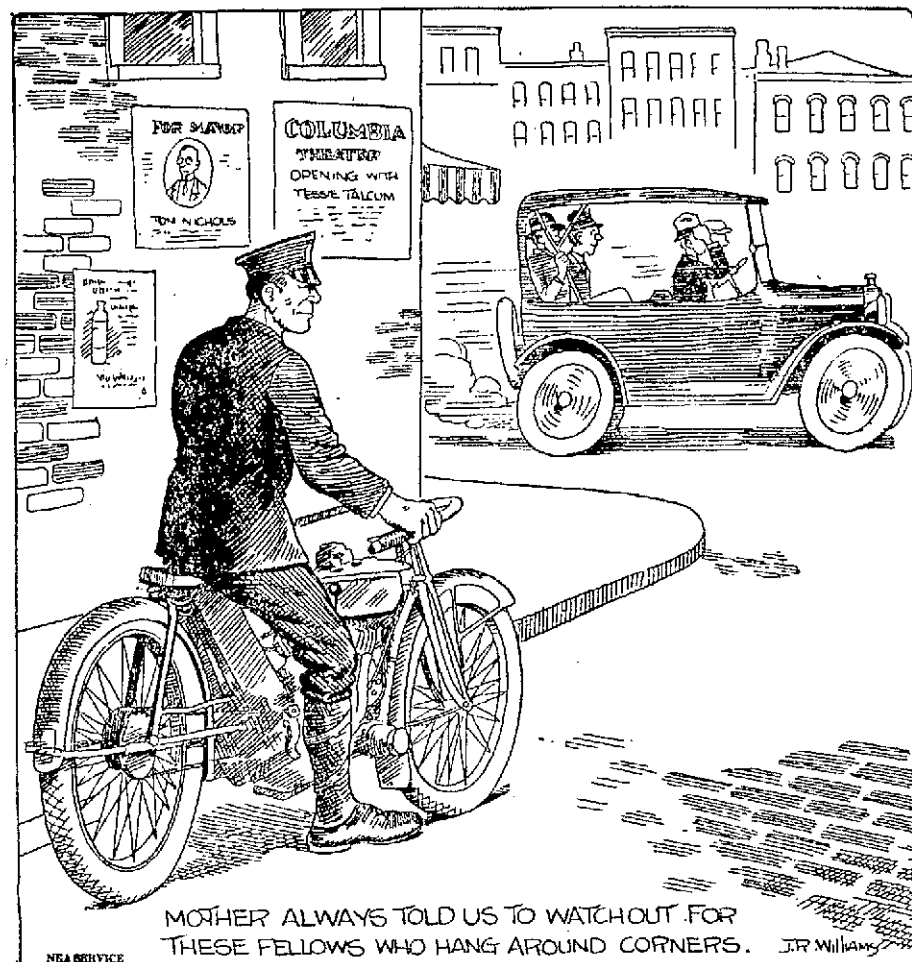

Then, reviewing the results of the Washington conference, he said: "I think we may justifiably claim that these results, which are not only of real benefit but contain promise in the future for the whole British empire are due in no small measure, first to the last Imperial conference which was so largely concerned in initiating the Washington meeting, and second to the British empire's determination which co-operated so successfully in bringing it to fruition."

The remainder of his speech was devoted mainly to a resume of the economic difficulties facing the British empire and the world and the impoverishment of many countries following the war.

The representatives of the Dominions, including President Cosgrave, of the Irish Free State, made more or less formal replies. Premier Baldwin's speech, Gen. Smuts made the longest and most important, drawing a good analogy from the presence of the Irish representative and recalling that two years ago, when the last Imperial conference was sitting, the state of Ireland was as black as any thing existing in Europe today; but the difficulties were resolutely grappled with, and today the Irish Free State was represented in this conference.

LAWRENCE FIRE UNDER INVESTIGATION

LAWRENCE, Oct. 2.—Shortly after 12 yesterday a general alarm was sounded for what looked like a serious fire in the heart of the business district, near Broadway and Common st. The fire started in the wooden stables of the People's Ice company. When the apparatus from the first alarm arrived on the scene a general alarm was sounded, owing to the location of the stables and the number of small buildings surrounding.

From the People's Ice company the fire spread to the stables of the George Hadley company in the rear of the Palace theatre. The wind which was blowing fanned the sparks a great deal, causing them to jump over a number of small wooden structures, and ignited the roof of the Murray Bros., wholesale grocers.

The fire was in the same locality as the one about a month ago, and part of the ruins of the recent fire caught again yesterday and the embers were blown about, causing the firemen much trouble.

The People's Ice company stables and the George Hadley company stables back up to one another and are of wooden material. The fire is believed to have started in the rear of the People's Ice company stables where there were a number of horses. The horses were rescued.

The Hadley company stables were also burned a great deal and most of the substance inside destroyed. The Palace theatre was unharmed.

Between the Hadley stables and the Murray Brothers are a number of small wooden buildings within a space of about 75 feet. The high wind blew the sparks over these buildings and ignited the roof of the Murray Bros. building. Although a large part of the roof was badly burned it is not believed that much of the stock was injured.

The fire was under control about 1:30 and an investigation has been started by the police and fire officials. No estimate of the damage is known and the cause is not known.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Mrs. Roach Was Too Weak to Walk and Feared She Would Never Be Better

Loss of appetite, distress after eating, shortness of breath, a feeling of utter weakness—these are symptoms that are familiar to most sufferers from stomach trouble.

Nervous dyspepsia usually attacks those who have inherited a nervous constitution. It may, however, follow a sudden shock to the nervous system, or result from a condition of debility following acute diseases, such as fevers or the grip.

Mrs. Sarah J. Roach of No. 221 Princeton street, East Boston, Mass., suffered for six months from nervousness and indigestion. She says:

"My stomach was dreadfully weak and I could not take any solid food but lived mostly on milk. My nerves were bad. I could not sleep and finally became so weak that I could not get on my feet. My heart used to jump so that it scared me. I was white as death and lost in weight. Nothing seemed to help me and I thought I would never get well."

"My sister had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with benefit and she brought me a box and made me take them. I was then so weak that I could hardly stand. Within two weeks after I began taking them my strength increased so that I could walk. My appetite improved and with it my ability to retain solid food. My improvement was steady and I took seven boxes in all. I have no more of the heart jumps, my nerves are in good shape and people remark how well I am looking. I sleep soundly at night and can eat anything. I want without distress following. I am glad to say a good word for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I certainly was almost hopeless of obtaining relief before I found this remedy."

The free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System," will interest you. Write for it today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 60 cents a box.—Adv.

Committees were also appointed to draw up plans for several social events to be staged by the association this season. An interesting speaker last night was Mr. Thomas Carlen who spoke at some length on the good and welfare of the club. Routine business was transacted and several propositions for membership were laid on the table for one week.

EXPERTS WRITE GIANT-YANKEE WORLD SERIES DOPE FOR THE SUN

ONE PITCHER FREQUENTLY DECIDES A WORLD'S SERIES

Ray Schalk, Noted Catcher, Recalls Heroic Work of Babe Adams of Pittsburgh in 1909 and Red Faber, Chicago White Sox in 1917

BY RAY SCHALK
World's Greatest Catcher

What part does pitching play in a short series?

In figuring the chances of the Giants and the Yankees in the coming world series, that question is worthy of much consideration.

Unquestionably, the Yankee staff as a whole is far superior to that of the Giants. Over a season's campaign of 134 games it would decisively assert itself. But does it play so prominent a part in the outcome of a short series?

Southpaws bother the Yankees. Mike Cuyegros of the White Sox finds the Yankees one of the easiest clubs in the league for his style of pitching. Mike has scored many victories against the Yanks but he always gives them plenty of trouble.

Jack Bentley of the Giants is a southpaw. Possibly Jack has a bit more stuff than Mike because of his superior physique. It wouldn't surprise me if McGraw used Bentley to decided advantage against the American league entry.

I am also partial to the pitching of Hughie Quinn. He has good stuff and knows how to pitch. That is of great value against a slugging aggregation like the Yankees. Incidentally, Quinn is a fine fielder and a good batter. His presence on the rubber makes the Giants a well-balanced ball club.

Then there is Jack Scott, Art Nehf and Bill Ryan, most capable performers. Each has the ability to make himself a world series hero if he happens to be at the top of his game.

For the past two years I have played a great many games against the Giants on the spring training trip and I have been in an excellent position to judge the merits of the Giants' pitchers. Likewise my summer's play against the Yankees gives me an even better line on the pitching staff of the American league pennant winners. Here are the conclusions that I draw:

The American league staff as a whole is 30 per cent more efficient than the Giants' staff. Yet, there are certain pitchers on the New York Nationals who have the ability to single-handedly counteract the bunch of the Yankee staff as a whole.

Then again, some pitcher given no consideration may upset the dope. Jesse Barnes, the ace of the Yankees, is a right-handed pitcher. He is a fast ball, turned in such a performance in the 1921 series between the Giants and the Yanks. Not figured to start, his two victories as relief pitcher saved the Giants.

Pitching is baseball's most valuable asset. Over the long run, an all-star pitching staff will assert itself. However, I am of the opinion that a galaxy of star pitchers does not mean so much in a short series of seven games. Often one great pitcher may prove even more valuable than four or five stars.

For that reason, in doing out the coming series between the Yankees and the Giants, it is not wise to lay too much stress on the Yankees' great pitching staff.

Can Manager of Giants Again Outguess the Big Threat of the Yankees?

HERE'S RUTH

And this is the Babe, himself, as he looks taking a cut at one of the slow curve balls which McGraw demands that the Giant pitchers use against the American league star.

(This is the first of a series of six articles on "The Psychology of World Series Play," written by Billy Evans, noted American league umpire. In these articles the phases of the game dealt with from an unusual angle, stressing the mental features as distinguished from the material.)

By BILLY EVANS
John McGraw versus Babe Ruth.

There you have the battery for the coming world series.

Can John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, outguess Babe Ruth, baseball's "king of the swat," the big threat of the New York Yankees?

Sitting in the dugout, far from the view of the thousands of fans who attended the series last year, Manager John McGraw did the pitching for the New York Giants. It was McGraw who outguessed Ruth and the rest of the Yankees, making it possible for the New York Giants to win their second world series in a row.

On every ball pitched in the 1922 world series, Catcher Frank Snyder glanced in the direction of the Giants' bench before he crunched down to give the signal to his pitcher. Snyder was looking to Manager McGraw for instructions.

McGraw's Word Is Final

The supposition is that McGraw gave the final decision on every ball pitched. Some experts argue that only in the pinch did he pass the signal to Snyder. Even so he accomplished his purpose, for he had the Yanks paying more attention to him than the pitching.

McGraw, in the 1923 clash with the Yanks, will again occupy the same seat in the Giants' dugout. Frank Snyder or Hank Gowdy, who will probably do the catching for the Giants, will be looking toward the bench as was the custom in the last series.

The theory of McGraw is that Ruth cannot hit a pitcher with a good curve who is able to slow up. Give Ruth a diet of slow ball pitching with a curve mixed in, keeping the ball low and outside and you have him stopped, says McGraw.

Slow Ball Ruth's Weakness

There is no secret about McGraw's theory. Ruth can go into the series prepared to look at a lot of slow ball pitching. Incidentally, if it is necessary to use a fast ball, make him hit a ball once, is McGraw's orders to his pitchers.

During the season just closed American league pitchers have tried McGraw's theory with only ordinary success. It doesn't seem to be so positive over the long run.

In the two world series between the Giants and the Yanks, Ruth has tightened up. His only ambition was to knock the ball out of the lot. He took a terrific swing at every ball pitched. Slow ball pitching is poison to such a style.

This shows the relentless John McGraw as he sits on the bench directing every play made by his Giants during a world series game—and paying particular attention to how his pitchers pitch to Babe Ruth.

Match Wits With McGraw

During the American league season, the moment a pitcher slowed up on Ruth, he shifted his position and swung. He attempted to time the ball rather than swing wildly.

Ruth must enter the coming series with the feeling that a timely single with a couple on the bases is worth more than a home run with sacks empty. Ruth, instead of playing into McGraw's hands by swinging wildly at every pitch, must try to outguess McGraw, the master strategist.

When Ruth is hitting, the Yankees are a different ball club. If McGraw again stops Ruth, the big threat of the Yanks, the Giants will have a decided edge.

McGraw versus Ruth. There you have the leading actors in the 1923 series.

ORIOLES AGAIN BEAT YANKEES

International League Pennant Winners Defeat Yanks in Second Game, 4 to 0

Babe Ruth Forced to Retire to Give His Injured Ankle a Rest

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The 1923 baseball season almost passed yesterday. Only three games were played and only one is scheduled for today, but the fans have plenty to talk about with the world series only a little way off. The dope still favors the Yankees, although the world's champion Giants are getting enough credit for their performances to keep the argument hot.

In the three games that were played, all in the American league, Cleveland won 1 to 0 in St. Louis, Washington lost 4 to 3 in Philadelphia and Detroit won, 16 to 5 in Chicago.

In Baltimore the Orioles, five times winners of the International League pennant, defeated the Yanks in the second game of a three-game series, 4 to 0. Babe Ruth was forced to retire after the first inning to give his injured ankle a rest.

GRADWELL AND TANSEY IN "RUBBER" BATTLE

In securing Willie "Young" Gradwell to pitch for the Orioles on next Thursday night the Apolly club has completed a number that ought to prove one of the greatest battles of the season.

Both are skillful ring generals. Gradwell has had greater experience due to his longer connection with the game. During his career he has met three world's champions and he has gathered a host of notables of the ring and the weight. He never quibbled over the weight question and the majority of his bouts have been with men of greater power than he. Gradwell will be here for his two victories last season over Paddy Morton, the first via the layo route and the second on points. He also won over New York Johnny Duff here.

Tansey though "young" at the game has ascended the ladder with remarkable rapidity. He is a fast, finished workman and he is noted as a hard, straight hitter. He, too, has met many of the notables of the ring and twice he has engaged Gradwell in combat. These battles were serious encounters, with each man giving his best and gathering a host of notables of the ring and the weight. He never quibbled over the weight question and the majority of his bouts have been with men of greater power than he. Gradwell will be here for his two victories last season over Paddy Morton, the first via the layo route and the second on points. He also won over New York Johnny Duff here.

A couple of light heavyweights, Eddie Record of Nashua and Battling McLeod of Cambridge are listed to perform in the third round. Record has been winning consistently of late, his latest victim being Pat Hantz of Haverhill. McLeod also has quite an impressive record.

Brown to Box Cooney

As a result of his victory in Lowell over Romeo Boel of Holyoke, Newport Johnny Brown has been matched to meet Jimmy Cooney, formerly of New York in Holyoke on Friday night. Fans are anxious to get a look at the man who won over their favorite and they believe Cooney will force Brown to show at his best. Cooney is now making his home at Holyoke and already he has become a popular performer. Cooney in his Holyoke bouts has defeated Roche, Earl Baird and Young Manly.

Quill and Boyle Rematched

After considerable wrangling over the weight question, etc., Frankie Quill of Brockton and Phineas Boyle of Lowell have been rematched to box in Nashua on next Monday night. The pair met a few weeks ago in a hard, ten round bout that was called a draw. Friends of both claimed the decision was in error. Ever since that battle the rival boxers have been anxious for a return engagement. Quill, it was said, had a big weight advantage on Boyle in the first battle and hence it was insisted that he make weight for the next meeting. Finally he deposited $100 to make 140 pounds ringside. This was agreeable to Boyle and articles were signed last night.

TO DETERMINE AMERICAN ENTRY TO RACE PAPYRUS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Having turned down Trainer Sam Hildreth's proposal to race Zev, Harry F. Sinclair's three-year-old, against My Own at the mile and an eighth distance to determine the American entry against Papyrus, the English champion, Admiral Grayson today awaited a response to his renewed offer for a race at the full mile and a half.

The owner of the elimination sweepstakes winner informed August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey club, in a telegram last night that he would not enter My Own in any elimination race with Zev unless for the same distance as the international championship itself.

AMERICA STILL SUPREME IN BOXING

BY JOE WILLIAMS, N.E.A. Service Writer

CLEVELAND, Oct. 2.—The foreign invasion of boxing hasn't resulted in changing the boundaries of the Queensberry map to any alarming extent. America is still the capital of the world in boxing.

With the exception of Pancho Villa, pride of the Philippines, holder of the flyweight crown, all the titles still belong to American developed fighters.

Eugene Girard came over from France and knocked Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, into a cross-eyed puzzle, but the gallant General still holds the boxer long enough to get comfortably used to it. Girard made a prior promise to meet Johnny Dundee. If he won from Kilbane and being entirely unacquainted with the professional fighter's definition of honor, he kept his promise and was beaten by the veteran skit-skotch artist.

Senior Frits succeeded in carrying a menacing shadow across the heavyweight situation for about seven thrilling seconds, after which he rolled over and listened to the customary mathematics. Jack Dempsey is still king of the million-dollar-purse set.

Another celebrated puncher is now in our well-known midst, Mons. Battling Siki, dark-skinned light-heavyweight, who made a shabby wreck of the gorgeous Carpentier in a memorable Paris battle.

The esteemed battler, training on light wings and heels, when brought into the ring to match his talents with Tommy Gibbons, Gene Tunney or Harry Greb, it is not likely that he will do his worst.

Tommy Gibbons, Tunney and Greb have heard enough stories about Siki and his scandalous goings-on in what is known as the "Paris" and they will not have anything whatsoever to do with him.

So there.

At any rate Siki is not likely to take home an American title.

YOUNG TANSEY VS. WILLIE GRADWELL

Crescent Rink Thursday Night

Nothing much has been heard from the Butler A. A. so far this season, but from all indications they expect to repeat their performances of last year by defeating all comers, and again winning the city championship.

Starting last evening practice sessions will be held every evening except Wednesday.

Bill Brown, captain of last year's Colby college team, is coaching the Butlers and already his effective work and scientific teaching are beginning to show results. While at Colby Brown played on the line and he is giving the Butlers forward particular instructions.

The Butlers will be strengthened somewhat this season, Sullivan and Whiteley having been annexed to the line and although the backfield is not yet a certainty it has promise of being the same fast and snappy running quarter.

Plans are under way to bring a fast out of town team here next Sunday on the old Fair grounds and Coach Brown wishes all men to report for practice this evening at 8 o'clock. This year's manager and captain will be elected after practice.

The O. M. I. Cadets will hold a practice session tonight at 8 o'clock and Capt. O'Connor expects all players to be on hand.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—With the approach of the world's series baseball games betting in the financial district became moderately active yesterday. Several wagers were placed by W. L. Darnell and Co. at odds of 6 to 6 that the Yankees will defeat the Giants.

The Yankees are also quoted 11 to 1 favorites to win the first game of the series. The Darnell firm has $5000 to bet on the series at 6 to 5 and $1000 to wager at odds of 2 to 3 that the Giants will win.

They also have several thousand dollars to bet either way at prevailing odds on the initial game.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

FOUR LINERS ARRIVE

Many Immigrants Landed at

Boston — 15-Months-Old

Girl Traveled 15,000 Miles

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—Of the 2015 passengers arriving on the Cunard liner Samaria at East Boston yesterday morning, few could equal the seafaring record of little Eva Battie. Although she is but 15 months old, she has traveled 15,000 miles over water, an average of 23 1/2 miles a day.

Her father, Dixon Battie, was an African trader. Following her birth in Umata of the Congo region, the child has been traveling practically continuously. Mr. Battie made many trips up and down the east coast and his little daughter was always with him. Recently the family went to Capetown and from there to Barrow-Furnace, Eng.

After a short visit there, the family came to America, where Mr. Battie will take up work as a wood-fitter in Trenton, N. J.

Both little Eva's parents say that she is most happy when sailing at sea. They fear they will have some bother while she is being acclimated to solid earth.

Among the other interesting passengers on board were 9-year-old Betty Slater of Staffordshire, Eng., and her 3-year-old sister, Hilda, who traveled unaccompanied. The little girls' parents came to this country in July with their year-old son and settled in Chicago.

Celtic Brings 1829
The White Star liner Celtic arrived here yesterday to put her load of immigrants ashore before the quota was exhausted. She docked at Commonwealth Pier about noon. On board were 501 first cabin, 355 second cabin and 1569 third-class passengers, a total of 1357.

Sir Andrew H. Pettigrew of Glasgow, who was chairman of the executive committee of the Y.M.C.A. of Scotland during the war and co-operative with the Y.M.C.A. of the other allies, arrived on the steamer with Lady Pettigrew in a two-months' visit.

Sir William Lister, nephew of Lord Lister, and surgeon oculist to His Majesty's household and surgeon to the Royal London Ophthalmic hospital, was also a passenger, accompanied by Lady Lister. They came from London to attend the convention of eye specialists at Washington and will spend two months in this country.

Another passenger was Mrs. Page, widow of the American ambassador to England, who went to London to witness the unveiling of the memorial to her husband in Westminster Abbey.

Mrs. Page was accompanied by her five children, including Arthur W. Page, editor of the World's Work.

Lieut. Col. John A. Anderson of London came over on the steamer as a delegate of the British army to the meeting of the Association of Military Associations of the United States of the United States, to be held at Carlisle Barracks, Penn.

Also on board was a group of prominent dairymen from Great Britain who came over to attend the World's Dairy congress in Syracuse.

Shortly after noon the Anchor Line steamer Tuscania pulled into East Boston to land 650 passengers.

This was the first time that Capt. David W. Bone brought his vessel to the Hub port. He reported a death on board during the voyage, that of Steward Hamilton Cunningham, who was buried at sea with full honors.

The White Star Line steamship Megantic, from Liverpool and Glasgow, arrived later with 1481 passengers, most of whom are English, Scotch and Irish immigrants.

The passengers on the four arriving steamers numbered upward of 6000.

SEEK TRIO WHO ESCAPED FROM JAIL

DOVER, N.H., Oct. 2.—Deputy sheriffs and other officers were scouring this section of the state yesterday for three prisoners from the Piscataquis county jail. They are Joe Gaudette of Saco, Wilfred Therrien and Romeo Bolly of Lewiston, who Sunday night made their escape from the jail by sawing the bars of their cells. The three men had been held on charges of breaking and entering summer cottages at Moosehead lake.

Following their escape they are supposed to have entered the woods and made their way toward Garland or Dexter. All are thinly clad and are without funds.

Sheriff Macomber asked all police departments in this section of Maine to be on the watch for the trio.

PRAY FOR WORLD PEACE

National Council of Catholic Women Announce Plans at Convention

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—A prayer for world peace during the period extending from Oct. 24 to Nov. 1, will be promoted over the country by the National Council of Catholic Women, under plans announced yesterday at the organization's annual convention here.

Mrs. Mitchell Gavin, of New York president of the council, announced the bishops of the Catholic Welfare council had commissioned the women to promote a novena prayer and that steps to carry out the plan already had been taken. Bishop Joseph Schrembs, spiritual director of the organization, arranged "birth control propaganda," and urged the council to combat it with all of its zeal. He also declared the government was spending millions to enforce the prohibition law "which everybody in his own heart knows is non-enforceable."

"And I notice," he added, "that men high in government positions who are saying they have got to enforce this law are breaking it before they say it or immediately after."

"There are a great many people who imagine that every ill must be cured by legislation," the bishop continued. "Now let me tell you, dear ladies, legislation will never cure anybody. Legislation is the enactment of law for certain definite purposes, but that in itself is not going to make a saint out of anybody. These things have got to proceed from the innermost sources of individual morality, which is the heart of the individual man."

The convention also was addressed by Secretary Davis, who urged the women to assist in "humanizing" the immigration laws, and Mrs. Gavin, who reviewed the work of the council for the past year.

RIVER PIRATES LOOT STEAMER OF $11,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Quietly stealing along the freight steamer Bridgetown in a rowboat late Sunday night, a gang of river pirates, heavily armed with revolvers and knives, overpowered the crew and stole $11,000 in gold bars and platinum from the ship's strong box which they opened by means of acetylene torches. It was learned today.

The pirates clambered up the side of the vessel as she lay at her Brooklyn pier and caught one after another of the 11 members of the crew and one customs officer, stealthily gagging and binding each one of them so that the entire crew might not be around at once.

Then with the seamen securely trussed in corners, the pirates, numbering about 15, used acetylene torches to burn the hinges of the safe box. The precious metal which they obtained was consigned to a New York company and brought to this port from South America on Friday. A much larger quantity of gold ingots and platinum, it was stated, was removed from the strong box on Friday.

Police learned of the robbery when one of the sailors unlocked the ropes with which he was bound and telephoned to police headquarters. The sailors said the pirates had worked efficiently and had not been brutal. They remained on board more than one hour.

LOYAL WOMEN'S LODGE

The regular meeting of Loyal Women's lodge, 7102, I.O.O.F., M.U., was held last evening in Grafton hall with N.G. Freeman Lightowler in the chair. Business was transacted and visitors from Merrimack valley lodges were entertained.

PRIZE-WINNERS of the FLEISCHMANN Yeast for Health CONTEST

The Fleischmann Health Contest closed August 15. But so tremendous was the response that the judges have been busy ever since—reading, comparing, deciding. Here finally, are the 153 prize-winners—selected after careful consideration of thousands and thousands of reports.

This Contest has given us a new conception of the unique place won by Fleischmann's Yeast in millions of American homes. With such nation-wide enthusiasm—with such unanimous tribute to the power of Fleischmann's Yeast—with such a host of men and women to whom this fresh natural food has given new health and joy in life—it has been exceedingly difficult to narrow-down the selection to 153.

Our sincerest thanks to each and every one who took part. So excellent were hundreds of reports which must go unrecognized that we regret there weren't prizes for all; but we want the authors to know that none will go unappreciated. And as dozens of people put it "whether I get a prize in this Contest or not, Fleischmann's Yeast has given me the biggest prize already—the prize of perfect health!" THE FLEISCHMANN COMPANY, 701 Washington Street, New York City.

READ THESE EXTRACTS FROM PRIZE-WINNING REPORTS:

"Constipation had become chronic," writes Mrs. Allan Ramsey. "As quickly as my system got accustomed to one remedy, I'd have to hunt a successor because it ceased to 'work.' Then she started eating Fleischmann's Yeast. 'In two months my internal economy was operating like a well-oiled motor. Today my complexion is clear, I no longer catch cold at the slightest provocation, and I have none of the old-time drowsy dullness that accompanies constipation.'"

"The age of miracles is still here," asserts a New England lawyer, Ellery H. Clark. "Inside of a fortnight after beginning the Yeast treatment, I noticed a distinct improvement in my health; in a month I was literally a new man. Within a year I had regained the lost twenty pounds;

my nerves steadied; my appetite returned. I am today in the pink of condition, and a convert for life to Fleischmann's Yeast."

"When I began eating Fleischmann's Yeast," says a western lumberman, Wesley Ray, "I weighed 135 pounds. Now I weigh 183. But it isn't the added weight I want to tell you about—it's the different feeling. Before I began Yeast I felt like, I imagine, an old broken-down draft horse feels. Now I feel like a 2-year-old colt."

"Years of strong medicines had not only deprived me of health but had ruined my teeth," writes Mrs. B. M. Moore, a former trained nurse. "I first tried Fleischmann's Yeast in a glass of milk, then I took three cakes a day, and soon realized I had never been sick—I had been starved. Fleischmann's Yeast changed my life. Now I weigh 123 and still gaining. Husband has a 'new wife' and the children a happy, patient mother."

"I didn't mind getting gray, but oh! how I hated to be fat," writes Mrs. Florence A. Locke. "Now I can stoop without puffing and am as slim as when a girl. Since taking Fleischmann's Yeast, some folks say I am the busiest woman in town. I know I am the happiest!"

"Picture a girl of twenty," says Mrs. Vermet, of Montreal. "With a face, head, and neck covered with sores. You can understand I was cynical at first about Yeast. But three months later you'd never have known that I ever had been disfigured. I feel like standing on a mountain top and telling the world about it!"

German Parliamentary Crisis Near

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—(By the Associated Press) A German parliamentary crisis is predicted today. PARIS, Oct. 1.—French police officials are actively engaged, it became known today in running down a communist plot to create defections in the army. The extremist leaders are using the pretext that the French forces in the Ruhr and Rhineland are likely to be called on to suppress disturbances and uprisings of either a communist or nationalist nature. They have been busy, the police say, distributing subversive tracts in barracks in Paris and suburbs as well as elsewhere in France and have even succeeded in getting some of the literature into the hands of the Ruhr soldiers.

INTERESTING FIGURES

Contained in Report Submitted by Probation Officer Joseph L. Cronin Today

The annual report of Probation Officer Joseph L. Cronin for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1923, shows that drunkenness is on the increase in this city.

were closed, and in Jefferson county only six out of 23 were opened. Johnson appeared to be the only county where the threat of Gov. Walton to close the polls by force of arms had been carried out. There 100 armed state police held possession of all election supplies and would not permit them to be removed from the office of the county election board.

Barred Election In Bryan county Sheriff John Conn followed instructions of Gov. Walton and barred the election. An effort to obtain an injunction against him late yesterday in state district court at Durant, failed.

Cimarron and Harper counties were not voting because supplies have not been received from the election board and in Jefferson county a ballot shortage kept most of the polls closed.

"Election Already Won by Klan" TULSA, Okla., Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press) Voting began in Tulsa county at 7 o'clock this morning, guarded by more than 1500 armed deputies under County Sheriff R. D. Sanford. The weather was cloudy.

A statement from R. R. Stevens, head of Gov. Walton's civilian forces in this county, declared that "the special election is already won by the Klan."

"We concede we are beaten before the election is held. We have received several reports that ballot boxes have been stuffed. As the boxes are in charge of the sheriff's gunmen, we have not been able to investigate the reports."

It is apparent that armed interference by representatives of the Klan and the manipulation of the election supplies already has destroyed the integrity of the ballot.

Two Walton Guards Arrested Two men carrying commissions from the headquarters of Gov. Walton's elvillan guard, were arrested near the courthouse today by city police.

They were charged with carrying concealed weapons. Police Chief Moran announced that every armed person without a deputy sheriff's warrant would be thrown into jail.

700 Sheriffs on Guard MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 2.—The polls opened in Muskogee county today with approximately 700 deputy sheriffs on guard. The early balloting was brisk and without incident.

Unique Election OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press)—An election unequalled in the records of America today brought to a climax the bitter factional struggle which began when Gov. J. C. Walton opened his warfare on the K. K. K.

Rumblings of intimidation and violence were heard as thousands of special deputies took their stations at precinct booths throughout the state. Early indications were that in 72 counties, at least, the governor's strategic jockeying in 11th hour efforts to block the election would have no effect. But five of the 77 counties comprising Oklahoma have signified that they would obey the governor's command to prevent the election, by force, or arms, if necessary, on grounds that it will be illegal.

The election is to decide whether the voters will vest in the state legislature authority to convene on its own call and investigate the officials acts.

AMERICAN FUND AIDS 5 P. C. IN JAPAN

TOKIO, Oct. 2.—Funds donated by America for the relief of Japanese earthquake sufferers, will aid about five per cent. of those in need, according to figures gathered by the American Red Cross.

The Japanese Red Cross, it was stated, plans to sell supplies at cost to those in need who are able to pay for them, the money received being expended for other suitable supplies for those who cannot pay.

Under the plan devised by Ambassador Woods, the American contingent is delivering supplies to the Japanese relief bureau and transferring hospitals to the Japanese as soon as the Red Cross is able to take them over.

The Japanese relief bureau stated that supplies needed for this winter will be purchased in America.

Election Held Under Guard

of the executive, impeachable offenses have been charged.

Arranged against the executive are rulings of the state supreme court, the attorney general's department and the state election board. These hold, in effect, that once called, no man has the power to prevent an election.

W. C. McAlister, secretary of state election board, early today warned that any person who interferes with an election is subject to imprisonment and those who attempt to obstruct today's election, will be vigorously prosecuted.

"No man, not even the governor, can prevent an election," Secretary McAlister asserted.

Despite the warning, however, George D. Key, clerk of the Oklahoma county election board, reported that numerous election officials had been threatened in anonymous telephone calls and messages.

In Oklahoma City, where 4000 citizens with special commissions, wait to aid election officers, a woman, in whose home the ballot box for a township is placed, was warned by an unnamed letter to "get that box out of your house by morning or something will happen." In no case, it was said, have the threats been noticed.

A clash narrowly averted at Tecumseh late last night when Sheriff Butler of Nowata county, with 12 deputies went to the courthouse to obtain the ballot boxes for delivery to election officials. He was met at the entrance by 60 armed men, said to have been acting under orders of the county attorney, who declared they had instructions to shoot to kill any one who attempted to touch the election supplies.

The sheriff went immediately before District Judge Hal Johnson at Chandler and obtained an injunction restraining any interference with the election. Early today, authorities reported that the election would be held.

LOOMFIXERS' UNION HAS BIG MEETING

A largely attended special meeting of the Loomfixers' union was held last evening in the quarters of the organization, Trades and Labor hall. President J. E. Jemery occupied the chair and fifteen new members were initiated. A list of routine business was transacted and at the close of the business session a social hour was enjoyed.

In the course of the meeting General Organizer Thomas J. Reagan of the United Textile Workers of America addressed the gathering on organization. Mr. Reagan told of the benefits to be derived from organized labor and he urged all loomfixers of the city to gather under the banner of the Loomfixers' union. He also stated that he will remain in Lowell the next three weeks during which time he will endeavor to organize 100 per cent. all the textile unions affiliated to the United Textile Workers of America.

MARY GARDEN PLEASURES

Large Audience Delighted With Recital at Auditorium Last Evening

Giving unalloyedly of her personality, her operatic ability and her voice, Mary Garden sang in the Memorial Auditorium last night before an audience which matched her charms with a warmth of greeting that could not be mistaken in its sincerity. She was assisted in the presentation of a most interesting program by Guita Casini, cellist, and Georges Lauweryns, pianist and accompanist.

The recital marked the opening of another Auditorium season and while the artists who will appear this winter may not be uniformly greeted by the capacity audiences which flock to the hall last year—for at that time the hunger for good things was acute—the audience last evening was eminently satisfactory and filled about two-thirds of the available seats.

Gorgeously gowned in silver cloth, sensually cut as to width and embellished with a girdle of brilliants and wearing a beautiful rope of pearls and a coronet of the same jewels, Miss Garden was dazzlingly attractive. Her gown bothered her just a bit, too, for on one or two occasions her foot tripped in it as she left the stage, but a loss of the head and a vexing smile completely covered up her temporary embarrassment.

The former leader of the Chicago Opera company has lost none of her operatic ability, nor has her voice been stripped of its charming quality. The notes in the lower register were particularly full and well rounded last night and when occasion demanded her top notes were equally as effective. Every number was exquisitely colored and phrased and when the score called for dramatic interpretation she gave it skillfully.

She chose first to sing the beautiful "Duetto in F major" from "Loulou." She lived the Parisian atmosphere in which the opera is clothed, took full advantage of all opportunities for passionate expression and sang into it a complete appeal. She substituted an air from "La Boheme" for the aria from the second act of "Manon Lescaut" as was on the program and here, too, the theme was developed with rare skill and artistry. She added the Habanera from Carmen and later in the program followed it with the Seguidilla from the same opera. Two other groups embraced the "Zueingnung" of Strauss, Gretchinow's "The Steppes" and "Ouvre tes yeux bleus" by Massenet and Fauré's "Les Berceuses," "The Serenade" by J. A. Carpentier, and the Seguidilla from Carmen.

The assistance of Mr. Lauweryns at the piano cannot be overestimated and in addition his solo number, Liszt's "Paraphrase sur Rigoletto," was splendidly managed. Mr. Casini was heard to advantage in two groups of "ello arrangements and also played the rather uninteresting Volkmann Concerto in A minor.

Other renowned artists will appear at the Auditorium before the season wanes, but none will be more appealing in so many ways as was Miss Garden. It was a distinct pleasure to hear her again and to see her as well.

The local management was in the hands of John I. Donovan of Lawrence who this year is presenting a star series which next brings to the city Maria Jeriza on October 24.

Billerica Man Killed in Auto Accident

Walter F. Dupuis Meets Instant Death When Automobile Turns Turtle Near Billerica Centre

DEMOLISHED FORD CAR IN WHICH WALTER F. DUPUIS WAS KILLED

Walter F. Dupuis of Rogers street, No. Billerica, was instantly killed at 6.40 o'clock this morning when his automobile turned turtle on the Billerica-Bedford road near the South cemetery, about one mile from Billerica Centre. Dupuis' two companions, Martin Coffey of Walnut street, North Billerica, his brother-in-law, and Patrick Collins, also of Walnut street, were but slightly injured.

The party was travelling towards Concord, where Dupuis' two companions are employed, with Dupuis driving. At the South cemetery Dupuis seemed to lose control of the car, according to his companions, because of the roughness of the road, and the machine rolled over twice. Dupuis' head was caught between the side of the car and the ground, completely severing the upper portion of his head.

The accident was seen by Albert Bolton, crossing tender for the Boston & Maine railroad at the Concord road, about 50 feet from where the machine turned turtle. He notified Dr. Buck and Chief of Police Henry Livingstone of Billerica. Rev. Fr. Geswell of St. Andrew's church, North Billerica, was also notified. Dr. Buck notified Medical Examiner M. L. Ailing and the latter visited the scene of the accident and ordered Dupuis' body removed by Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons of this city.

Insofar as is known, Bolton was the

PLAN TO FORM CHORAL SOCIETY

In an endeavor to form a choral society, Rodolphe E. Pepin, organist at St. Jean Baptiste church has called a meeting of all the members of the French Catholic church choir of the city for this evening. The reunion will take place at 8 o'clock in the assembly hall of St. Joseph's college in Merrimack street.

Special invitations have been sent to all the French Catholic church singers to attend the meeting, but Mr. Pepin stated today that there may have been some omissions and that therefore singers without invitations will be as welcome as those whose addresses were known. The purpose, it is understood, is to form a choral society, which will give at least one concert at the Auditorium during the winter season. The singers invited to be present are from St. Joseph's, St. Jean Baptiste, St. Louis, Notre Dame de Lourdes, St. Jeanne d'Arc and St. Mary's church choirs.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The unexpectedly small ginning figures reported by the census bureau this morning, coupled with strong Liverpool cables, caused a jump of 31 to 45 points in cotton prices at the opening.

This was quickly followed by further upturns that carried October contracts to 23.55 and December to 23.13, or over $4 a bale over Monday's close and was within 50 points of the season's high level.

Imposition of Censorship in Germany Suggests Things Going From Bad to Worse

Reports From Bavaria Say Royalist Sentiment Moving Towards Monarchy

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The imposition of a censorship in Germany, applying to the foreign correspondents as well as to the German newspapers, has had the natural result of increasing the belief here that things in the Reich are going from bad to worse. Nothing is contained in the numerous Berlin despatches in the morning newspapers to suggest any serious developments.

Full details of the revolt at Kues-trin are lacking, but reports received in London indicate the probability that the affair was somewhat trivial. In any event, the capture of Kues-trin, according to some of the commentators here, would itself be of comparatively small consequence.

The chief anxiety of the moment continues to center in Bavaria where royalist sentiment is supposed to be moving rapidly towards the reestablishment of the monarchy.

PEP APLENTY AT ROTARY

Dr. H. E. Davis Reports on Poland Spring Conclave of New England Rotarians

Lowell Rotary club held a rousing meeting at the Boys' club following the regular weekly noon-day luncheon today. Harry Pollard was president of the day and kept things humming from start to finish.

Dr. H. E. Davis, president of the club, told of the annual conclave of New England Rotarians at Poland Springs, which he, with several other Lowell Rotarians, attended last week. Dr. Davis' report was comprehensive and interesting, sufficient humor being injected in his narrative of the delegates' travels to command the strictest attention of all present.

About 100 Rotarians and guests were at the dinner. F. E. Jones, druggist, was awarded a prize for giving himself the busiest Rotarian present. Robert Thomson took honors for having the softest snap. Three visiting Rotarians from Nashua acted as the judges. The chairman called upon several of the diners to make their interesting speeches with humorous side remarks were the result.

The Rotary club hall, it was voted, will be held this year on Dec. 25 at Lowell Memorial Auditorium.

Commander Joseph A. Molloy of Lowell post, American Legion, told his fellow Rotarians of a recent visit to the Veterans' bureau hospital at Rutland and urged those with time to spare to offer short auto rides to the convalescent soldiers whenever possible.

Secretary Roy Patchett's badge, as big as the average snowflake, was the target of many sage remarks as it was noted on his lapel while he took the attendance slips at the door.

MODERN PIED PIPER COMES TO RID LOWELL OF ITS RATS

H. T. Pitts of Buffalo, Backed by Federal and Local Health Authorities, to Launch Three Weeks' Campaign Tomorrow—Says This City Has as Many Rats as Men, Women and Children—Hopes to Kill Them All

A modern Pied Piper came to Lowell today and for the next three weeks will wage unrelenting warfare against the city's thousands of rats. He is H. T. Pitts of Buffalo, N. Y., champion rodent exterminator of all times, working according to approved methods of the United States health service and is launching his local campaign with the strong endorsement of the Lowell board of health.

Thousands of rats in Lowell? Yes, tens of thousands. In fact, the federal government estimates that rats in a town or city equal the population. In which event, Lowell's rat horde approximates 115,000. And they multiply like wildfire.

Rats are poisonous. They are expensive. They consume food, cause fires and breed rapidly. The 115,000 rats here today will be many more in a few years unless some means are taken to rid the city of them.

And so along comes H. T. Pitts, the 1923 edition of the Pied Piper, not to charm the rats into following him out of the city, but to run them ragged and literally chase them to death.

For the past six years Mr. Pitts—who, by the way, is sorry he cannot claim close relationship with "our Harry"—has been engaged in the extermination of rats. He has killed between 11 and 12 millions during this time and while he admits the glamor has gone and the job is becoming an old story, he is still hot on the trail of what he terms "the country's greatest and most powerful and most destructive interior foe."

Backed up by a force of five or six men, Mr. Pitts will begin his Lowell campaign tomorrow. As far as is possible he will conduct a house-to-house canvass, beginning downtown in business blocks and manufacturing establishments. He will keep in close touch with the board of health office at city hall, where calls for his assistance will be received and answered.

He is not being hired by the city to do this work and is under no contract. He is working "on his own" and in addition

FATHER OF MRS. WEBB FILES OBJECTIONS

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Samuel J. Gorman, Sr., father of Mrs. Charles Webb, who died under alleged mysterious circumstances at Ite last week, today filed objections to the probating of his daughter's will, which left all her estate, estimated at $2,000,000, to her husband. The will was offered for probate yesterday.

Mr. Gorman's objections were based on the grounds that the will offered yesterday was not the last will of his daughter; that it was not properly executed according to law; that she lacked capacity at the time to execute the will; that it was executed by her, it was not her free act; and that she was unduly influenced in the execution of it. The objections do not state who unduly influenced her.

ZR-1 ARRIVES AT ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—The ZR-1, the navy's giant dirigible, arrived here shortly before dawn this morning and after resting about the city until daylight, headed north towards St. Louis flying field, at Bridgeton, near here.

Off On Return Trip

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—The ZR-1, the navy's mammoth of the sky, departed on its return trip to Lakehurst, N. J., at 9.30 a. m. today. It will fly over Chicago, South Bend, Toledo, Detroit and Cleveland.

The big craft swung majestically from St. Louis field and headed directly for Chicago, which city it expects to reach by 4 p. m.

Rear-Admiral Moffett, chief of the naval bureau of aeronautics, is making the return flight. It is his first trip in the giant craft and the first time in history that a rear admiral's flag has been flown from a rigid craft, it was stated.

Rear-Admiral Moffett will return to St. Louis for the Pulitzer air classic Saturday.

Officers said they expected to reach Cleveland by midnight, and land at Lakehurst, in the early morning. No landing is planned on the return trip. The trip to St. Louis and return to Lakehurst covers about 2000 miles.

WILL OBSERVE FIRE PREVENTION DAY

Plans for the observance of Fire Prevention day on Tuesday, October 9, are being formulated by Chief Edward F. Saunders of the fire department. In many respects they will be similar to last year's inasmuch as they will include talks on fire prevention at all grammar schools by members of the department to be designated by the chief later this week.

This day is more for teaching means of preventing fires than combating them, and for this reason the greater bulk of information imparted is for children, whose carelessness many times is responsible for destructive conflagrations.

The school department will co-operate with the firemen in the observance of the day and will make arrangements for assemblies of pupils.

Former Nurse Suffered 20 Years From Stomach Trouble O'Brien's Gives Relief

Here's a Letter of Particular Interest to Those Who
Have Tried Other Remedies Without Success

Think of a woman—a nurse, too—undergoing treatment for stomach disorders over a period of 20 years without obtaining relief. Remedies of all kinds were tried. Stomach specialists, too, doctored her. Still her condition did not improve. Fact is, she grew worse. Got so bad that she was seized with severe cramps after every meal; slept so poorly that her nerves finally gave out. An operation was eventually arranged for.

About this time someone suggested O'Brien's for Dyspepsia—but read Mrs. Bridger's own words:

"I have been troubled with indigestion, Nervousness and Gastric ulcers dating back for 20 years. After eating I would be attacked by severe cramps. Had spells of nervous crying and rarely slept the night through. I lost my appetite and well recall not eating at all for days at a time.

"The first bottle of O'Brien's brought such relief that I knew I could safely cancel my pending operation. You can well believe my joy when I phoned the doctor that it was to be called off.

"Since taking O'Brien's I can eat anything and do my own housework. I sleep well at night and do not have any more crying spells."—Mrs. W. L. Bridger, 88 Hobart st., Brighton, Mass.

O'Brien's is prepared after a doctor's prescription. Since 1898 it has brought health to multitudes of sufferers of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, Gastritis, Colic, Ulcerated Stomach. Sold with a money-back guarantee—you to be the judge. Get a bottle today.

Refused to Sign Death Certificate for Mrs. Webb Because He Suspected Poison

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Dr. William J. Meyer, the physician who refused to issue a death certificate for Mrs. Charles Webb, wealthy New York society woman, because he suspected that she had been poisoned, is expected to appear before the grand jury today to tell what grounds his suspicions are based upon.

While Dr. Alexander O. Goettler, toxicologist of Bellevue hospital, was seeking traces of poison in the viscera of the woman who died in the fashionable Westchester-Baltimore Country club a week ago, officials primed themselves for a searching investigation should his result affirm the suspicions of Dr. Meyer. A grand jury summons was served upon Dr. Meyer yesterday.

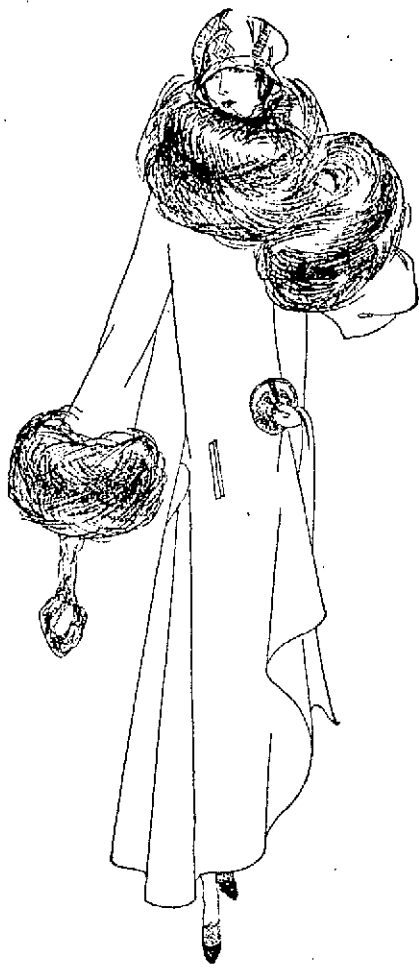

While no official investigation has yet been started, Charles Webb, widower of Mrs. Webb, called on District Attorney Rowland yesterday and volunteered to tell all he knew about the alleged mystery. After his visit, Howard Thayer Kingsbury, his attorney, who accompanied him told reporters that he did not believe there was any mystery.

The presence of a short will, signed and leaving all to her husband and another unsigned but making different bequests, was revealed yesterday. Mr. Kingsbury, commenting upon this, said Mr. Webb, appreciating his wife's desires which were set forth in the unsigned will would see they were carried out.

Meanwhile, everything waits upon Dr. Goettler and the conclusion of his chemical analysis.

Allied Occupation of Constantinople Ends

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press) The allied occupation of Constantinople formally ended at noon today. For weeks transports have been evacuating troops and material, while one by one the warships have slipped away, thus making today's function merely a brief military ceremony. The Turkish garrison will enter the city on Saturday.

City Enters the Gasoline Business

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 2.—In an effort to bring gasoline down to what Mayor W. W. Wertz termed a reasonable price level, the city of Charleston has entered the gasoline business as a retailer. The city council last night passed a resolution providing for the purchase of gasoline in tank car lots by the city and disposal of it to all citizens at "actual cost price."

Plane Drops Into River—Airmen Rescued

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Oct. 2.—A Curtiss army airplane containing two young men, Henry Rafus of Wilmington, Vt., and Warren White of Mineola, L. I., took a nose dive into West River, near Brattleboro Retreat Landing field shortly before noon today. The plane was damaged, but the two aviators were not hurt. They remained in the cockpit, the water being shallow, until two other young men who saw the accident scoured a boat and rescued them. After taking off the pilot turned the machine sharply to follow the course of the river to the Connecticut river, but a strong wind retarded progress so the plane settled until the landing gear struck the water, causing the plane to dive.

ECHOES OF LEO
FRANK CASE*Atlanta Paper Publishes Story*Declaring Confession Not Fully Investigated*Jim Conley, Who Testified*Against Frank at Murder
Trial, Named as Real Slayer

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 2.—Echoes of the famous Leo Frank case, were revived here yesterday when the Atlanta Journal published a story declaring a reputed confession that a negro, and not Frank, killed Mary Phagan, had been brought to light again with the discovery that the confession had never been fully investigated.

Frank, after his sentence of death had been commuted to life imprisonment by Gov. Slaton, was taken by a mob from the state farm at Milledgeville to a point near Marietta, the home of the slain girl, and hanged. According to the Journal's story, the reputed confession was made by a negro believed to be named Freeman when he thought he was dying in the Atlanta federal prison.

The confession, the Journal said, named a negro, Jim Conley, whose testimony in the trial of Frank was regarded as highly instrumental in Frank's conviction as the real slayer. Local officials to whom the confession was reported 10 years ago, declared they remember some details of the affair and recall that after they had failed to make progress in investigating it, they gave it up, believing the confession was false.

75,300 KILLED IN ACCIDENTS

Toll of Human Lives Exact
in 1922 Increase 2000
Over Previous Year

Statistics of National Safety
Council Announced at
Congress in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Accidents in the United States during 1922 exacted a toll of approximately 75,300 human lives, an increase of nearly 2,000 over the previous year, the committee on public accident statistics of the national safety council declared today in its report before the public safety section of the national safety congress which opened here yesterday. The report charged the automobile with the largest entry in the annual accident mortality budget—14,000 for 1922, 15 per cent. of all fatal accidents for that year. In 1922 there were 114 deaths per 10,000 cars registered, and 12.8 per 100,000 population, the report said. David Van Schaack of Hartford, Ct., vice president of the council, declared at the opening session of the public safety congress that a like opportunity in public safety work lies with the newspapers of the nation. The newspaper, said Mr. Van Schaack, are performing the most significant service in keeping the public and results of public accidents continuously before the public. "An automobile accident is not only a tragedy to the family," he declared, "it is a community calamity of the highest importance. Another human life needlessly wasted. More vigilant enforcement of the laws plus the watch-dog of the public interest."

SALVATION ARMY SERVICES
Services of special interest will be held at the Salvation Army hall on Appleton street next Thursday evening. The young people of the local organization will give a demonstration of the different branches of Army service connected with young people. During the presentation of the program, the presentation of the "The Grange" will be shown. There will be no charge for admission and all are invited to attend.

VANZETTI AND SACCO IN COURT

Convicted Slayers Brought
Into Court Handcuffed to
Each Other and to Officers

Counsel for Defense Charge
Foreman of Jury Was
Prejudiced Against Them

DEDHAM, Oct. 2.—Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were brought into the superior court today, handcuffed to each other and to officers, for the second day of the hearing on motions for a new trial for the men convicted of the murder of a factory paymaster and his guard at South Braintree in 1920. William G. Thompson, one of the attorneys for the defense, said that two hours probably would be required for him to finish his argument begun yesterday. Thompson's argument is based on the contention of the defense that Walter H. Riddle, foreman of the jury which convicted the two men, was prejudiced against them and that he had improperly carried three bullets into the jury room. Sacco, removed from the state hospital for the insane at Bridgewater after the hospital superintendent informed the court that five months' observation had revealed no trace of insanity, is now a prisoner at the Dedham jail.

as a result of their injuries. Other estimates place the number of casualties at 20. More than 400 persons, it is now known, were hurt, at least 100 of whom were detained at the hospitals where they were taken for treatment. It is also believed that many were slightly injured and able to go directly home.

Press.)—It is officially announced that the participants in the insurrection at Kuestein yesterday numbering about 400 men, have been captured and disarmed. The rebels lost one killed and several wounded. There were no losses among the government forces. The troops ordered to Kuestein as reinforcements are returning to their stations. In the opinion of officials here, the revolt actually served a useful purpose, inasmuch as it gave notice that the government was prepared to put down immediately any attempts at insurrection. Chancellor Stresemann is scheduled to go before the Reichstag today to outline government policies in the Ruhr and Rhineland as well as its present position toward reparation negotiations. Security Police Dissolved DUESSELDORF, Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—The security police force of this city, which has been formally charged with entire responsibility for last Sunday's rioting, in which nearly a score of persons were killed and more than 400 injured, has been decreed out of existence by the government. The definite dissolution of the force was announced today by French headquarters. The French troops will continue to police the city until a new German police force has been organized under French direction. This will be done as soon as possible. What disposition shall be made of the 300 members of the disbanded security force has not been decided, but it is expected their green uniforms will be taken from them and that they will be either expelled from the region or imprisoned for an indefinite period. A revised casualty list compiled by the French shows 11 killed, of whom that removes the cause. Money back if seven were German civilians, two not satisfied.—Adv.

OPENING OF MIDDLESEX WOMEN'S CLUB

A plea for enthusiasm to make the Middlesex Women's club one of the foremost in the country of its type was made at the season's opening yesterday afternoon by the new president, Mrs. Charles H. Hobson in her maiden address before the club members.

"The work and worth of our club is limited only by its enthusiasm," she said, "and when weeks go by with a meagre attendance the wonderful club spirit is apt to grow somewhat anemic, to languish and to lose some of its power. What we most wish our club to attain is a right-minded attitude and to exert a proper influence. When on important subjects we are no longer vague or uncertain and when we become earnest within ourselves, our influence as a club becomes definite, direct and dynamic."

The address of the new president, the high light of this first meeting which was for the purpose of installing the officers for 1923-1924 and allowing the club membership to meet them personally at a reception which followed, was cordially and enthusiastically received and it was felt the club stepped off on the right foot at the start of a new season.

During the reception there was music by a ladies' orchestra and tea was served under the direction of the hospitality committee, Mrs. M. A. Rawlinson, chairman.

Supplementing the president's address was the announcement of the season's program of lectures and concerts so far as it is completed. The dates already announced are as follows:—

GIRLS' CLUB TO PRESENT "OH, OH, CINDY"

Rehearsals on "Oh, Oh, Cindy," the three-act musical comedy to be presented by the Girls' City club this month, will start very soon. "Oh, Oh, Cindy," from all indications promises to surpass the two other big musical comedies presented by this live-wire local girls' organization, "Springtime" and "Kathleen." Hereafter the productions have been staged at the Opera House but this year the Girls' club has been fortunate in securing the Academy of Music, Dutton street, for the dates of October 25th and 26th. This production will no doubt open the theatre as painters, workmen, etc., are now busily engaged putting the interior and exterior of the house in top shape for these dates. The Academy of Music is an ideal place for the production having a very large seating capacity and more than ample stage room, enabling fine scenic effects and the like. Some of the principal male and female roles for the coming production have been assigned to popular and capable young men and young women thespians and the different groups are being fitted as rapidly as possible. All these decisions of taking part in this musical treat are urged to get in touch with those in charge of the show at Girls' City club, Howe building. As before stated rehearsals are to begin within the next week or two and a finished production is assured the public for the presentation dates October 25th and 26th. "Springtime" and "Kathleen" presented by the Girls' City club last year and the year before were the talk of the town for months afterwards. The Lowell Sun in commenting on "Springtime" said in part: "Seldom, if ever, has amateur talent in this city succeeded in attaining such surprising excellence in plays calling for capable acting and, in addition, dancing, and singing of a high order, and those people who were privileged to see this musical comedy were all of the same opinion that a professional company could hardly have given a more satisfactory presentation."

"Oh, Oh, Cindy" is an up-to-date musical comedy of the first water, replete with comedy, dancing, song and story.

DAIRY CONGRESS OPENS

Delegations From 42 Nations at Washington for Opening Session

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Delegations from 42 nations, including scientists, public health officials and manufacturers of dairy products and machinery, assembled here today for the opening session of the world's dairy congress. Discussion by experts of the department of agriculture of progress in various phases of the industry, occupied much of the program for the two days' session here before the delegations are transferred Thursday to Philadelphia and later to Syracuse, N. Y., where they will continue until Oct. 10.

Questions concerning the use, production, transportation and marketing of milk in every part of the world, from the standpoint of both economic progress in the industry and public health, were listed for discussion.

IRELAND PARTICIPATES IN CONFERENCE

DUBLIN, Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press) The participation of Ireland in the British imperial conference at London, it is felt here, will have a direct bearing on immediate Irish interests and the attitude to be adopted by the Irish delegation has been exhaustively discussed at a cabinet conference.

"Questions of the political relations of the dominions to the imperial government, will not, it is believed here, be raised. The parliament here has not yet arrived at a definite fiscal policy and is merely carrying on temporary with existing British tariffs where such exist."

Springfield Woman Gained 35 Pounds

"For a number of years I was the worst run-down person imaginable," recently stated Mrs. John Lamondia, 30 Bligh street, Springfield, Mass. "When I started taking Tanlac I only weighed one hundred and five pounds and, being unable to do any work, we had given up housekeeping. Everything I would eat made me sick. I could not sleep, had awful spells of palpitation and dizziness and was almost a nervous wreck."

"But now I weigh one hundred and forty pounds and am a perfectly well woman. Of all our six children the last one a boy, is the biggest and healthiest and he was born six months after I began taking Tanlac. We call him 'John Bull' on account of his fine physical condition. Ours is a happy family and I count Tanlac the greatest find of my life."

"Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold."

real power in the arteries. Also locomotor-ataxia, which interferes with our powers of movement. In a far greater degree we have brain lag and atrophied cerebrums. When we "know it all" we stop growing. A few moments' conversation with a person who has stopped his mental growth and activities, will reveal the situation clearly to one who is in the middle of his mental channel and not looking to either shore. The brain cells may be dormant for five or even ten years, but they are capable of recuperation beyond almost any other vital organ. They can stage a comeback if provided with mental food. Food excess will overload the system with poisonous waste products. This is taking blood supply from needed cells and it brings mental laziness. Beware of psychic apathy. It is easy to drift into physical reaction through a depressed state of mind. Don't look backward and count the years. If you look forward to renewed mental growth, even though you are 60, you may be much younger than your neighbor who is only 30.

This Little World

BY CASUAL STROLLER

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Lonesome visitors in New York, pining for the sight of somebody from the old home town, are recommending this system: When you're strolling along Fifth avenue keep your eyes on the tops of the busses. The chap who invented the system always has his chin up and his eyes aloft whenever he walks in Fifth avenue. He says it's a safe bet that most out-of-town people ride on top of busses so they can get a better view of the sights. Four boys in overalls have been cleaning up a half of nickels and dimes nightly by ranging up and down Broadway and along Seventh avenue above Longacre Square and giving sidewalk shows to theatre crowds. They walk on their hands and turn cartwheels and flip-tops—all reminiscent of your boyhood days and your grandfather's hayloft.

Little known points of historic interest in New York include the house at No. 1 Jane street, where Alexander Hamilton died after his duel in Wochawken with Aaron Burr. The house is at the corner of Jane street and Greenwich avenue, a block from West 4th street in Greenwich Village.

Sporting events are drawing larger crowds to New York every year. All records were broken by the Dempsey-Firpo fight. World series baseball games are usually next in attracting out-of-towners. Lesser fights, six-day bike races and tennis championships all fill the hotels. Eleven new hotels are opening in New York this fall and winter to take care of the increasing visitors.

Do You Buy Any Mattress

Put the mattress you expect to buy through these question-and-answer paces. Make it measure up to the Derry-Made standard of mattress value. If it does, it's a safe mattress to buy.

Do you know the origin—under what "Working" conditions was it made?

Each Derry-Made mattress comes to you crisp and clean, built in our modern sanitary plant, flooded with country village sunshine and fresh air. Never the faintest taint of sweat-shop making ever clings to your Derry-Made. That's a real comfort, isn't it?

What kind of material is used Inside and Out?

Think of the manufacturer of Derry-Made mattresses as one of the largest producers in America of "fillers"—able and willing and with abundant resources to give "top cream" always in Derry-Mades.

Is it stuffed or blown?

Derry-Made mattresses are built up layer on layer of cobweb thin sheets of elastic cotton—never blown. To our way of thinking a blown mattress is little better than a bag full of cotton. Building the Derry-Made way, multiplies the elasticity of cotton and adds years to its friendly, comforting, sleep-enticing service.

Is it "structurally" reinforced?

Impossible, if it's a shoddy blown mattress. Think of the importance though, of placing extra sheets of cotton so strengthening by a cross-stitch structure that uncomfortable hollows, sleep destroying hills and dales are alertly guarded against, in fact, generally unknown in a Derry-Made mattress!

Can tufting stitches pull out?

Out the window flies Dreamless Sleep when the tufting breaks down. Tufting holds the mattress filler firmly in position preventing any possible structural breakdown. The placing and number of tufts adds greatly to the natural resiliency of any mattress, as well as insuring its long life. Derry-Made tufting stitches are double-locked. Derry-Made tufts can never pull out.

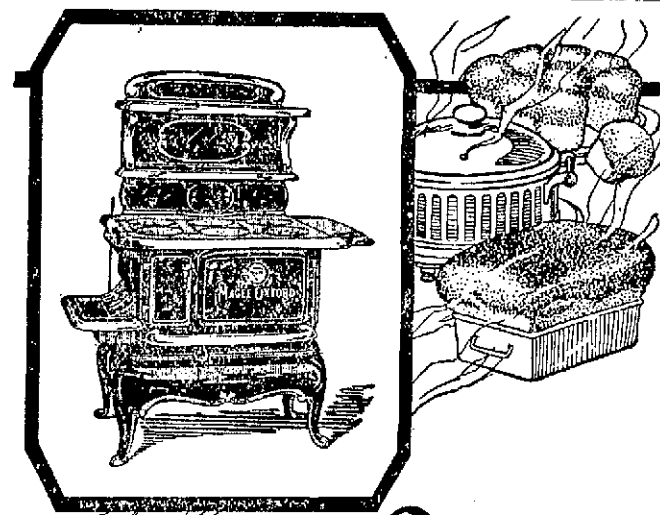

Is the edge "Hand Roll"?

A small point but mighty important. This edge holds the mattress permanently in shape. Machines are apt to pick up a varying amount of filler, so in some places a machine-made edge, while always nicely uniform, has no filler rolled in, hence becomes useless as guarding against breaking down or sagging. Derry-Made roll edges are always put in by hand.

Last, but not least, can you "measure" it as you buy it?

Derry-Made mattresses are sold the new Derry-Made way—"Inside Out." Read about the filler display cabinet which guarantees your selection of any Derry-Made mattress—makes it possible for you to know exactly what it is you are buying, and gives you one more reason to make your selection this time from one of the honestly made

To Buy Government Passenger Ships

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—A new inquiry from New York shipping interests looking to the purchase of at least part of the government's passenger fleet, was reported to the shipping board at its regular weekly meeting today. Active negotiations are in progress, although they have not reached the point where terms have been submitted. The Harriman lines are understood to be either the initiators or the supporters of the new proposal, which involves the ships now operated by the United States Lines. Specifically, the Leviathan, George Washington, America, Republic and President Harding are mentioned as the tonnage being sought.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

A first class vaudeville bill is being served at Keith's this week. Six fine acts are all exceptionally pleasing and set one in a fine mood to see the attractive picture, handsome Norman Kerry in "Is Money Everything."

It would be hard to pick the feature act of the well-balanced vaudeville card of the week. The Polka Girls, snappy dancers, opened the bill and registered well with the audience. They have a few smart dances and a line of up-to-the-minute dapper talk.

O'Brien & Josephine have a fine offering in "The Song Salesman." They are a young couple with a clean line of talk that goes over big. They sing well, look well, and act well. They seem to have a genuine feeling for one another that gets out over the orchestra pit.

Pepito, the Spanish clown, is a star of the first magnitude. He has the best clowning act that the vaudeville stage has seen in years. About twenty minutes of fun while he is on the stage assisted by a sonorous fair to look upon. Pepito actually rides a bicycle that doesn't stand half way up to his knees and that is only one stunt in a bagful of them. His imitations are exceptionally clever.

Carl Nixon, a smooth dancer if ever there was one, is teamed with Miss Gussie Sans in the classiest dancing act seen at Keith's this season. Nixon takes the part as a strutter, as an impersonator and as a comedian. He does his stuff in blackface and is a riot from his first appearance to the fadeout.

Tom Hiler presents a neat sketch in "Wanna Make Some Money." Tom is the hero and is going to double $10,000 for his sweetheart in a day. He gets into a truth-telling contest to win the money and finds he invited many complications. Peggy Warner, a sweetheart of a miss, is the girl. Bob McClung and Malcolm Arthur, and just the proper balance to a good act.

The Texas four is a smart quartet. The boys were in fine voice last evening and scored a great hit. They are a snappy bunch that put pep in the finishing number of the program and leave everyone in a happy mood for the cinema show. They are all action throughout their appearance and their "Subway" and "Rheumatism" songs make great hits.

The motion picture is the story of a young man determined to make money over all obstacles. Mr. Kerry is supported in this picture, which is a good one, by Martha Mansfield and Miriam Cooper.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Mae Murray attains the greatest success of her career as a moving picture actress as Georgina in "The French Doll," the leading attraction at the Merrimack Square theatre for the first part of this week. She ever thrills audiences with her acting, and she always pleases with a display of the latest Paris creations, but never before has she been so thrilling and so pleasing as in this latest picture.

Scintillating about Mae Murray is a cast of exceptionally fine talent that carries the play along smoothly but leaves to the leading actress the main position under the spotlight at all times.

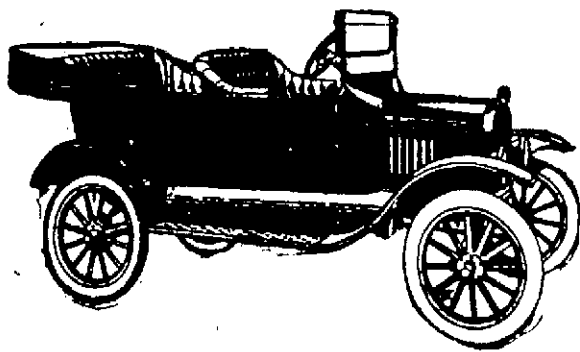

The story is of a charming, vivacious French girl whose unscrupulous parents

Insurgents in Captivity

KUERSIN, Oct. 2. (By the Associated Press.) The insurgents, numbering about 100, who yesterday attempted to storm the citadel where the Reichswehr troops are garrisoned, are now in captivity. An attempt by rebels last night to liberate their comrades, was repulsed. One of the rebels was killed and several were seriously wounded, while there were no casualties among the Reichswehr troops.

The reinforcements which were hurried to this city from other points yesterday upon the outbreak of the movement have returned to their barracks. The bulk of the insurgents are identified as members of Ehrhardt's notorious battle brigade and other illegal nationalist organizations. Their leader, Major Buchacker, is a retired army officer.

Billerica Man Killed In Auto Accident

only person to see the accident and his story, as told to The Sun today, is as follows:

"I was standing in front of my shop-

ty, looking up the road, when I saw this machine come along. It was on the left hand side of the road going about 25 miles an hour when I first saw it and suddenly it turned sharp and came over onto the right side of the road. At this point the road is rough on the right side and the machine bounced quite a bit. Then, without anything unusual happening, as far as I could see, the machine turned almost at a right angle and then rolled over twice, stopping on its side crosswise on the road. I went up to it and lifted a little of the weight off Dupuis' head, but I saw that he was done for. The other men were able to get about themselves after a moment so I stopped a passing machine and had them telephone the doctor and chief of police from a house a short way down the road.

At the point where the accident occurred the road describes what is known as an "S" curve. The right hand side of the road going down is bumpy and it is almost impossible for a speeding machine to take the corner safely. During the past few years there have been numerous accidents at this point due to the curve and the poor road.

Dupuis was employed at the Merrimack Woolen company at the Navy Yard, Dracut, until a short time ago, when he was laid off because of curtailment. In going to Concord today with his two companions he hoped to get employment on the same job with them.

Dupuis was 42 years of age and married. He leaves his wife, Anna C. Coffey Dupuis; two daughters, Pearl E. and Beryl M.; his parents, Peter and Susan Dupuis of Hinsdale, N. H.; five sisters, Mrs. Joseph Bergeron and Mrs. Henry Rouchey of Holyoke, Mrs. Henry McGrath of Colbyville, Mrs. Joseph W. Lister of Gardner, and Mrs. Edward Sweet of Keene, N. H.; five brothers, Ernest of Worcester, Fred of Holyoke, Stephen of West Swanton, N. H., Clifford of South Ashburnham and William of Tilton, N. H. He was a member of the Holy Name society of St. Andrew's church, North Billerica.

The body was removed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Coffey, of Walnut street, North Billerica.

DECLINE IN OUR FOREIGN TRADE

What the newspapers here say of the republican administration, and its tariff and other policies is likely to be discounted by a great many people who too often question the honest conviction of progressive newspapers as biased by partisanship. The fact is undeniable that the republican tariff has reduced our exports and, therefore, lessened the outlet for our manufactured products abroad.

As a result we have an unsettled condition in textile factories and acute depression in the wheat growing belt. The failure of the republican party to put our merchant marine in operation has also helped to reduce our exports and hence when our textile factories find their storehouses filled with no orders in sight, they have to curtail. We can produce enough for the domestic market in seven months; where are we to get a market for what we produce in the other five? We must find a market or close our factories temporarily.

As a result of these two causes mainly, our exports went down in 1922 to the level of 1915, or before we entered the war. If we had an active merchant marine and a moderate tariff, this would not have occurred. Because of the disorganized condition of the European countries, we should have greatly advanced our foreign trade last year; but if on the contrary, through mismanagement we allowed it to fall off, what will be the situation when the European nations get fully rehabilitated from the effects of the war, and when they become more potential competitors in the foreign markets?

It will be interesting to get the opinion of a prominent British official well known here, and probably one of the best judges of the trade and economic situation both here and abroad, that he can find anywhere. After a recent visit to this country, Sir Arthur J. Balfour in discussing the trade rivalry between the United States and England said:

"The cost of living and production in America is so high that I can perfectly certain that except in a few selected articles, we can compete with them for the export trade of the world. They have just passed through a slight slump, but I think they are likely to have a fair internal trade for the next eighteen months.

"America is depending very much on the sale of her wheat crop and her cotton crop to Europe, and has only just begun to realize that other parts of the world are in a position to supply the necessary wheat to England, for instance, and that in view of the Fordney tariff and the manner in which it is restricting trade with them, England is naturally compelled to buy her foodstuffs in markets where she can create a favorable exchange by trading."

That statement explains why our foreign trade has fallen off and why our farmers have lost the foreign market for their products. At present England is holding an imperial conference of the premiers of all her colonies at which the extension of her foreign trade will be one of the main questions discussed. The proposition for extending imperial preference will also be passed upon and doubtless adopted so far as may be practical without injuring England's foreign trade and causing an increase in the price of foodstuffs. But the conference is significant as indicating the efforts of England to extend her trade abroad, while our national policies are calculated, as Mr. Balfour shows, to lessen our foreign trade from year to year.

It is well to have the opinion of such an eminent authority from abroad, particularly on matters so vital to our industrial welfare and on which he is so well informed. England is doing much to extend her foreign trade, while we are doing practically nothing, despite the fact that we have a splendid opportunity. This state of affairs is what is expected to militate against the republican party in the next national election and sweep it from power. The reverses which it has already suffered in by-elections, indicates the growing sentiment of opposition throughout the greater part of the country. The policy of the democratic party is to cut down the profligate tariff, save our merchant marine and get it actively engaged in our foreign trade and also to do what we can reasonably to restore peace in Europe so that the nations will stop preparations for war and get down to business.

MORE LABOR BANKS

Boston is soon to have a bank owned and operated by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, one of the chain of banks being established by organized labor. It was gratifying to find that labor unions have saved sufficient funds with which to start a bank to be managed and conducted solely in the interest of the unions and the depositors. The work of conducting a financial institution of this kind will remove many of the misconceptions that have existed among the unions in regard to the capitalists who are usually prominent in banking and other commercial enterprises. It will be found that the men who have charge of the banks will have to work their brains as intensely as in any other business within the range of human activities. Experience in conducting banking institutions has shown that an error of judgment or lack of conservatism may bring financial ruin.

The men who will be placed in charge of the labor banks must, therefore, have experience in such undertakings in order to make them a success. It is estimated that the total resources of the labor banks now in existence in this country amount to $50,000,000 and that before the close of next year, the total will probably be doubled. The dividends to stockholders are limited to from 7 to 10 per cent, and all profits in excess of these amounts will be distributed among the depositors.

CITY SOLICITOR WAS RIGHT
In reference to the bill of $28,000 due the company that repaired the Central bridge, we are surprised to find some people asserting that the city should have paid the bill when the injunction was dissolved. Suppose the city paid the bill before the expiration of the twenty days during which the petitioners have a right to appeal and that on the appeal the supreme court should decide that the city should pay a less amount or reject the bill in toto, how then could the city recover the money illegally paid to the construction company? City Solicitor Reynolds foresaw this possibility and he was simply protecting the city's interests when he ordered the treasurer not to pay the bill and later secured from the court a restraining order to prevent the sheriff from collecting the money on an execution.

The orders of the court must be obeyed and the city solicitor is the official whose duty it is to protect the city in its legal rights and defend its interests against litigation of all kinds. In this instance he has done so promptly and well and he has not as a local paper alleges, attempted to ho-

The new high school, though occupied for over a year, has not yet been turned over to the building commission, the delay being due to injunction proceedings which the court has dismissed.

"Did you say that Mrs. Upton was giving this ball to celebrate her wedding anniversary?" asked Mae. "I don't see how that can be—why, Mr. Upton—" "I know, dear," answered Louise, "but this is to celebrate one of her previous weddings."

He Was Fighting

The old story has been revived of the tall Kentuckian who hurt the feelings of a friend about half as tall. The smaller man began pounding the big fellow in the stomach. The big man looked down and said: "What are you doing there?" The furious small man exclaimed: "I'm fighting, sah, by god, sah!"

Nothing on Him

An angler, thinking his Highland boatman was not treating him with the respect due to his station, said: "Look here, my good man, you don't seem to know who I am. Do you know that my family has been entitled to bear arms for the last 300 years?" "That's nothing," was the reply. "My ancestors have been entitled to have bare legs for the last 3500 years."—Pittmore American.

The Tin Can Pile

The early boarder was taking a look around. "Where is the peak?" silently the farmer pointed to a pile of tin cans behind the barn. The new arrival looked at him curiously. "What look I can't see," he said. "Well, call it a peak. Still, it isn't much of a peak." The farmer took a fresh chew. "It will be tall enough to more than suit you before the summer is over," said he significantly.

Not Very Popular

A Devonshire parish possesses a clergyman who is not much appreciated. A few Sundays ago he remarked to his church warden: "You people don't seem to appreciate me. Do you know that on leaving my last sphere of work the people showed their appreciation so much that they gave me a silver salver?" "That's nothing," was the church warden's reply. "If the world only got away from this parish we'd give thee a gold 'un."

The Paving Cutter

This is a song of hammer, peen, and drill. Of half-round, wedge, and reel, and of chalk-line shell. The song the brassy paving-cutter sings. As all day long his swinging hammer rings.

"Some day my blocks will pave a city street. And over them will trip the children's feet. And they will stand the wear of heavy loads. When I am walking heaven's golden roads."

I sing of wit to know the granite's grain. To tell the "riff" from "riff" and fell it plain. Of how much swing to give to heavy sleds. How many blows to strike the splitting wedge.

I sing the ringing tones of sledge-hammer. The harmony that comes from stone and steel. As to his blocks he gives the final blows. And piles them in the neatly finished rows.

LOWELL MAN FINED IN NASHUA COURT

NASHUA, N. H., Oct. 2.—Joseph Superannati of Lowell, Mass., was fined $25 and costs in municipal court yesterday for reckless driving of his automobile on the Lowell road Sunday evening, forcing another car into the street railway track and causing it to be much damaged.

Let us have an embargo on anti-trite. Commissioner Rogers is strongly in favor of blocking the shipments to Canada while New England suffers from a shortage in that commodity. The embargo issue was discussed last year when it was never more necessary, but the republican leaders would do nothing about it.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

A Lowell lady who has returned from the White Mountains is very much delighted with the beautiful autumn scenery which she thinks is at its best now. She also tells of the fire that destroyed the Profile House which will be rebuilt on a much larger scale. The Old Man of the Mountain also comes in for "honorable mention" in the following article received by The Sun from the lady in question:

"The recent fire which destroyed the Profile House in the White Mountains did a pretty clean job, as only one small house remains of the cottages which surrounded it. The story is told in the vicinity that a half-boy who was passing clothes with an electric iron left the iron heated and forgot to turn off the current which ignited some clothing and quickly communicated to the other rooms in the building."

"The Old Man of the Mountain is one of the greatest wonders of Nature in the world. It projects from the northeastern extremity of the mountain, 1200 feet above Profile lake. The hotel was situated between Profile and Echo lakes. It was burned down August 2, 1923 and will be rebuilt immediately. The new Profile House will be a semi-circular building modeled after the finest type of Swiss chalets and will be the finest in New England. Every room will have private bath, telephone and electric lights. A job by 200 feet long and 80 feet wide with open frontage, taking a five-foot lot. There will be a huge ball-room here in late September and on October 15 is unsurpassed. Echo lake reflects red and gold and could not be done justice in any picture or painting. As the camera scenes dwarf the mountains."

Is there anything as annoying as the frequent "yelling" of would-be smart ones, especially at baseball and football games? Telling is all right, providing one knows the game, but when it comes to having young boys yell insulting words at players, it is also wonderful at this time, owing to the lack of rain, all colors of low bushes and higher trees of variegated hues are seen. Autumn is surely a delightful time to visit and all visiting cars should make special efforts to get up there and enjoy a few days in it open."

During this week the people of this city, especially the relatives and friends of high school students, have a golden opportunity to show their interest in high school athletics by contributing to the fund being collected to raise the indebtedness on Alumni field. The sum needed is $3500 and if every high school student collects $1.50, the debt will be wiped out.

Lack of interest in its games has been a great handicap to the local high school football team. At the Nashua game last Saturday there were only a few spectators. The team naturally failed to show its best. Next Saturday Concord, N. H., plays at Lowell and Alumni field should be filled with loyal rosters cheering their team on to victory.

In connection with the drive to clear the indebtedness on Alumni field and to repay the contributors for their generosity, a ticket to the game Saturday will be given to every contributor of 50 cents or more. It is hoped that everyone who contributes one of these tickets will use it and join with the students in cheering the Lowell team.

Thomas Dixon, author of "The Birth of a Nation" in which he extolled the original Ku Klux Klan for its work during the reconstruction period, has written a new book, entitled, "The Traitor," denouncing the modern Klan. He says that the old Ku Klux Klan was not a secret organization in that it published its rituals when its work was completed. "The Birth of a Nation" scored a big hit when motivated by the producers as a bit skeptical about filming "The Traitor," feeling that it might create disturbances.

Are the people tired of so-called tag days? We earnestly believed, and we think the committee in charge did also, that the Henry F. Sullivan tag day last Saturday would produce much more than $500. It seems that the rank and file have revolted against such affairs, while the office folk and store clerks "come across" with their customary good will. Next Saturday, the Lowell Guild, an extremely democratic organization, is to launch a drive and will start activities with a tag day. The great work done by the Guild is deserving of every support, and the best way to show your appreciation is by contributing generously to the cause next Saturday.

Despite all that had been said about turning back the hands of the clock one hour last Saturday night before retiring, a great many people were fooled by the change to standard time. The story is told of a Boston family, who started out for church services at 8 o'clock by their household clock and got their just in time for the final service at 11 o'clock. It happened this way: Mr. X retired early and promptly turned back the hands of the clock. Friend wife, not knowing of the movement, but likewise trusting herself under the sheets, and then to top the climax, Sister Hannah returning from a party, turned them back once more. Draw your own conclusions!

Over 6000 football fans took in the various children's games on local parks last Sunday, proving our contention that the game is in for its biggest year in history. There was a time not long ago when the spectators of our football games in this city consisted of small groups of boys. Nowadays, however, grown-ups have contracted the habit and Sunday games were attended by all classes of people. It's good sport, this football, and is bound to prosper.

The Wild Bull goes back to the Pampas (Whatever the Pampas may be), There ain't so much fire in his loup as There was when he came, you'll agree. He came with his nostrils wide-flaring, And horns nicely polished to gore, But there is a change in his bearing, The Wild Bull ain't wild any more.

The Wild Bull goes back to the Pampas (Whatever the Pampas may mean), He wasn't so much of a champ as He fancied himself, in his bean. He fought like a Wild Bull, you said it! He set the fight fans in a row, But still, though we give the kid credit, The Wild Bull ain't wild any more.

The Wild Bull goes back to the Pampas (Wherever the Pampas may lie), We see him off over the Damp as A gritty young Argentine guy. He put up a fight that was splendid, But lacking in science and lore, And Dempsey smiles, "Well, THAT is ended; The Wild Bull ain't wild any more."

HURLS JUG FROM WINDOW

Woman Accused of Attempt to Destroy Evidence—Jug Failed to Smash

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—When Patrolmen Garret, Higgins and Laddlaw, attached to Capt. Reardon's liquor squad, approached a house in the South End yesterday afternoon, with the intention of searching the house on a warrant, they allege that Mary Taffe, who occupies one of the apartments, hurled a jug containing a half gallon of alcohol out of an upper window.

The jug missed the officers and struck a pile of dirt, without smashing, and was seized by the officers as evidence.

Two other places in the South End were raided by the officers, one being the premises occupied by Sidie Kelsman, where they claim to have seized two gallons of alcohol, after hiding in the cellar for a half hour waiting for a customer to show up so they could follow him in. A raid on the apartment of Gusie Weiner resulted in the seizure of two pints of liquor, the police report. Despite the fact that several of the members of the squads were on vacation during the month of September, the office of Capt. Reardon made 72 liquor seizures and five drug seizures. There were 59 cases prosecuted, of which number 73 were liquor and 10 drugs. The value of the liquor seized is given as $2500 and the drugs seized are valued at $110. Fines aggregating $2750 were paid by persons put before the courts in September and suspended sentences totaling nine months and actual sentences of five months were given defendants.

BOYS HELD FOR ATTEMPT TO KILL TEACHER

WORCESTER, Oct. 2.—Edmund Caskey, aged 17 years, was arrested last night and booked at police headquarters on a charge of assault with intent to kill Miss Anna M. Lee, a teacher at the Cambridge street school. William Hofskey, aged 17, was charged with being an accomplice. The police charge Caskey fired through the school window at the teacher while Hofskey stood guard. The police claim Caskey confessed he tried to kill the teacher when he and his companion became angered at her refusal to give them money and ordered them from the school room. The police say the boys shot at the teacher. The bullet went through the dress of a pupil and narrowly missed Miss Lee. The boys fled after firing the shot, but were apprehended later from descriptions given the police.

INTEREST IN BRITISH IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Premier Baldwin began his review of the empire's affairs before the imperial conference yesterday with a sketch of the history of the reparation problem. It was noticeable that he made no allusion to the British government's view with regard to the legality or illegality of the Franco-Belgian occupation of the Ruhr.

He remarked that what he described as the "honest divergence of opinion" between England and France reflected a difference of temperament and outlook which it would be foolish to ignore, but he added:

"The last 20 years have shown that they are not incompatible with wholehearted co-operation in the face of grave danger. . . . I am aware that the patience we have shown in trying to preserve good relations with France have laid us open in many quarters to charges of indecision and weakness but at least it has borne witness not only to our wish to act, in Disraeli's words, 'As a moderating and mediating power' in the councils of Europe, but to an ardent desire to preserve the friendship with France."

The premier would not venture to predict the outcome of the new situation that had developed in Germany, but he promised that Foreign Secretary Lord Curzon would make a more complete statement in the course of the week. Referring to the conclusion of peace with Turkey, he expressed the belief that the Lausanne treaty safeguards all the essential interests of the British empire and brought a spirit of reconciliation to this part of the world.

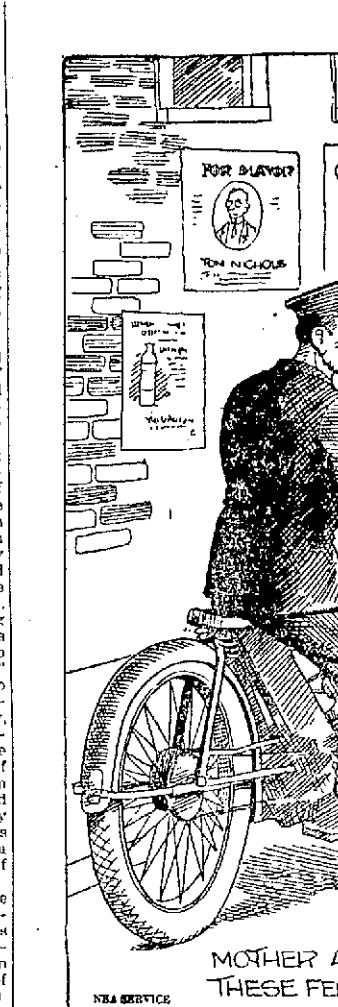

He then reviewed the steps in the funding of the British debt to America, and said: "The repayment of this debt is going to call for all our energy, but we considered this course an essential preliminary to restoration of the normal economic life of the world. The debts of the great nations must be recognized if the foundations of commercial progress are to stand."

Then, reviewing the results of the Washington conference, he said: "I think we may justifiably claim that these results, which are not only of real benefit but contain promise in the future for the whole British empire are due in no small measure, first to the last imperial conference which was so largely concerned in initiating the Washington meeting, and second to the British empire delegation which co-operated so successfully in bringing it to fruition."

The remainder of his speech was devoted mainly to a resume of the economic difficulties facing the British empire and the world and the impoverishment of many countries following the war.

The representatives of the Dominions, including President Cosgrave, of the Irish Free State, made more or less formal replies. Premier Baldwin's speech, Gen. Smuts made the longest and most important, drawing a good analogy from the presence of the Irish representative and recalling that two years ago, when the last imperial conference was sitting, the state of Ireland was as black as anything existing in Europe today; but the difficulties were resolutely grappled with, and today the Irish Free State was represented in this conference.

Among a party of harvest-workers who recently went to Canada, were three clergymen, many ex-officers and lads straight from school.

LAWRENCE FIRE UNDER INVESTIGATION

LAWRENCE, Oct. 2.—Shortly after 12 yesterday a general alarm was sounded for what looked like a serious fire in the heart of the business district, near Broadway and Common st. The fire started in the wooden stables of the People's Ice company. When the apparatus from the first alarm arrived on the scene a general alarm was sounded, owing to the location of the stables and the number of small buildings surrounding.

From the People's Ice company the fire spread to the stables of the George Hadley company in the rear of the Palace theatre. The wind which was blowing fanned the sparks a great deal, causing them to jump over a number of small wooden structures, and ignited the roof of the Murray Bros., wholesale grocers.

The fire was in the same locality as the one about a month ago, and part of the ruins of the recent fire caught again yesterday and the members were blown about, causing the firemen much trouble.

The People's Ice company stables and the George Hadley company stables back up to one another and are of wooden material. The fire is believed to have started in the rear of the People's Ice company stables where there were a number of horses. The horses were rescued.

The Hadley company stables were also burned a great deal and most of the substance inside destroyed. The Palace Theatre was unhurt.

Between the Hadley stables and the Murray Brothers are a number of small wooden buildings within a space of about 75 feet. The high wind blew the sparks over these buildings and ignited the roof of the Murray Bros. building. Although a large part of the roof was built burned it did not fall long. The fire was held last evening in Trafalgar hall with N.G. Freeman Lightowler in the chair. Routine business was transacted and visitors from Merrimack valley lodges were entertained.

MOTHER ALWAYS TOLD US TO WATCH OUT FOR THESE FELLOWS WHO HANG AROUND CORNERS.

LAWRENCE FIRE UNDER INVESTIGATION

LAWRENCE, Oct. 2.—Shortly after 12 yesterday a general alarm was sounded for what looked like a serious fire in the heart of the business district, near Broadway and Common st. The fire started in the wooden stables of the People's Ice company. When the apparatus from the first alarm arrived on the scene a general alarm was sounded, owing to the location of the stables and the number of small buildings surrounding.

From the People's Ice company the fire spread to the stables of the George Hadley company in the rear of the Palace theatre. The wind which was blowing fanned the sparks a great deal, causing them to jump over a number of small wooden structures, and ignited the roof of the Murray Bros., wholesale grocers.

The fire was in the same locality as the one about a month ago, and part of the ruins of the recent fire caught again yesterday and the members were blown about, causing the firemen much trouble.

The People's Ice company stables and the George Hadley company stables back up to one another and are of wooden material. The fire is believed to have started in the rear of the People's Ice company stables where there were a number of horses. The horses were rescued.

The Hadley company stables were also burned a great deal and most of the substance inside destroyed. The Palace Theatre was unhurt.

Between the Hadley stables and the Murray Brothers are a number of small wooden buildings within a space of about 75 feet. The high wind blew the sparks over these buildings and ignited the roof of the Murray Bros. building. Although a large part of the roof was built burned it did not fall long. The fire was held last evening in Trafalgar hall with N.G. Freeman Lightowler in the chair. Routine business was transacted and visitors from Merrimack valley lodges were entertained.

Y. M. C. A. BOARD OF GOVERNORS MEET

The first fall meeting of the board of governors was held last evening at the Y.M.C.A. Herbert W. Horne, president, presided. In addition to the regular routine business of the season, the year's work and outline was discussed. The board of governors voted to sanction the organization of the "Y" club, which met for its first meeting last evening. This is a national organization. Reports of the departments showed that through the

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

Mrs. Roach Was Too Weak to Walk and Feared She Would Never Be Better

Loss of appetite, distress after eating, shortness of breath, a feeling of utter weakness—these are symptoms that are familiar to most sufferers from stomach trouble.

Nervous dyspepsia usually attacks those who have inherited a nervous constitution. It may, however, follow a sudden shock to the nervous system, or result from a condition of debility following acute diseases, such as fevers or the grip.

Mrs. Sarah J. Roach of No. 221 Princeton street, East Boston, Mass., suffered for six months from nervousness and indigestion. She says:

"My stomach was dreadfully weak and I could not take any solid food but lived mostly on milk. My nerves were bad. I could not sleep and finally became so weak that I could not get on my feet. My heart used to jump so that it scared me. I was white as death and lost in weight. Nothing seemed to help me and I thought I would never get well."

"My sister had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with benefit and she brought me a box and made me take them. I was then so weak that I could hardly stand. Within two weeks after I began taking them my strength increased so that I could walk. My appetite improved and with it my ability to retain solid food. My improvement was steady and I took seven boxes in all. I have no more of the heart jumps, my nerves are in good shape and people remark how well I am looking. I sleep soundly at night and can eat anything I want without distress following. I am glad to say a good word for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I certainly was almost hopeless of obtaining relief before I found this remedy."

The free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System," will interest you. Write for it today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents a box.—Adv.

Routine business was transacted and several propositions for membership were laid on the table for one week.

EXPERTS WRITE GIANT-YANKEE WORLD SERIES DOPE FOR THE SUN

ONE PITCHER FREQUENTLY DECIDES A WORLD'S SERIES

Ray Schalk, Noted Catcher, Recalls Heroic Work of Babe Adams of Pittsburgh in 1909 and Red Faber, Chicago White Sox in 1917

BY RAY SCHALK
World's Greatest Catcher

What part does pitching play in a short series?

In figuring the chances of the Giants and the Yankees in the coming world series, that question is worthy of much consideration.

Unquestionably, the Yankee staff as a whole is far superior to that of the Giants. Over a season's campaign of 154 games it would be difficult to assert itself. But does it play so prominent a part in the outcome of a short series?

Experience has taught me that one great pitcher in a short series can outdo the efficiency of an all-star staff. It was Babe Adams with three victories in the 1909 series between Pittsburgh and Detroit that returned the Pirates victors. Adams was the only effective Pittsburgh pitcher. Single-handed he upset the done and put to rout the Detroit pitching staff which had proven so troublesome to American league batters.

Back in 1917 it was "Red" Faber who made possible the Chicago White Sox victory over the New York Giants. He won three games. The records of the world series games show that one pitcher has often dominated the event by winning three games.

In the last two world series the New York Yankees have gone down to defeat before the Giants. In 1921 it was a hard-fought affair, but last year the best the Giants could do was get a tie out of five games played.

No baseball expert will for a minute argue that the pitching staff of the Giants was equal to that of the Yankees. As a matter of fact the decisive victory of the Giants was the surprise of baseball, particularly for the experts. Baseball authorities without exception picked the Yankees each year, basing their done on the admittedly superior pitching staff of the American league entry. All of which brings me back to my original query: What part does pitching play in a short series?

I am inclined to the belief that the value of an all-star pitching staff is overplayed in a short series, such as the annual clash of seven games between the two major league pennant winners. The Yankees have five great pitchers who stand out. The staff of the Giants boasts of no such strength. Yet on the staff of the National league entry are pitching pitchers who have the ability to single-handed carry the burden if they are at the top of their game.

Can Manager of Giants Again Outguess the Big Threat of the Yankees?

HERBY RUTH

And this is the Babe, himself, as he looks taking a cut at one of the slow curve balls which McGraw demands that the Giant pitchers use against the American league star.

(This is the first of a series of six articles on "The Psychology of World Series Play," written by Billy Evans, noted American league umpire. In these articles the phases of play are dealt with from an unusual angle, stressing the mental features as distinguished from the material.)

BY BILLY EVANS

John McGraw versus Babe Ruth. There you have the battery for the coming world series. Can John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, outguess Babe Ruth, baseball's "king of the swing," the big threat of the New York Yankees? Sitting in the dugout, far from the view of the thousands of fans who attended the series last year, Manager John McGraw did the pitching for the New York Giants. It was McGraw who outguessed Ruth and the rest of the Yankees, making it possible for the New York Giants to win their second world series in a row.

On every ball pitched in the 1922 world series, Catcher Frank Snyder glanced in the direction of the Giants' bench before he crouched down to give the signal to the pitcher. Snyder was looking to Manager McGraw for instructions.

McGraw's Word Is Final

The supposition is that McGraw gave the final decision on every ball pitched. Some experts argue that only in the pinch did he pass the signal to Snyder. Even so, he accomplished his purpose, for he had the Yankees' entire attention to him and the pitching.

McGraw, in the 1923 clash with the Yankees, will again occupy the same seat in the Giants' dugout. Frank Snyder, or Hank Gowdy, who will probably do the catching for the Giants, will be looking toward the bench as was the custom in the last series.

The theory of McGraw is that Ruth cannot hit a pitcher with a good curve, who is able to slow up. Give Ruth a diet of slow ball pitching with a curve mixed in, keeping the ball low and outside and you have him stopped, says McGraw.

Slow Ball Ruth's Weakness

There is no secret about McGraw's theory. Ruth can go into the series prepared to look at a lot of slow ball pitching. Incidentally, if it is necessary to use a fast ball, make him hit a bad one, is McGraw's answer to his pitchers.

During the season just closed American league pitchers have tried McGraw's theory with only ordinary success. It doesn't seem to be so positive over the long run.

In the two world series between the Giants and the Yankees, Ruth has tightened up. His only ambition was to knock the ball out of the lot. He took a terrific swing at every ball pitched. Slow ball pitching is poison to such a style.

Match Wits With McGraw

During the American league season, a moment a pitcher slowed up on Ruth, he shifted his position and swung. He attempted to time the ball rather than swing wildly.

Ruth must enter the coming series feeling that a timely single with a

a Rest

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The 1923 baseball season almost passed off yesterday. Only three games were played, and only one is scheduled for today, but the fans have plenty to talk about with the world series only a little way off. The hope still favors the Yankees, although the world's champion Giants are settling enough credit for their performance to keep the argument hot.

In the three games that were played, all in the American league, Cleveland won 13 to 5 in St. Louis, Washington lost to 3 in Philadelphia and Detroit won 16 to 5 in Chicago.

In Baltimore the Orioles, five times winners of the international league pennant, defeated the Yankees in the second game of a three-game series, 4 to 0. Babe Ruth was forced to retire after the first inning to give his injured ankle a rest.

GRADWELL AND TANSEY IN "RUBBER" BATTLE

In securing Willie "Young" Gradwell to meet Young Tansey here on next Thursday night the Moody club has completed a number that ought to prove one of the greatest battles of the season.

Both are skillful ring generals. Gradwell has had greater experience than Tansey's longer connection with the game. During his career he has met three world's champions and about all the other boxers of note at or near his weight level. Gradwell is now a weight question and the majority of his bouts have been with men of greater poundage. Gradwell will be remembered here for his two victories last season over Paddy Morlon, the first via the knox route and the second on points. He also won over New York Johnny Duffy here.

Tansey, known as "Young" at the game has succeeded the ladder with remarkable rapidity. He is a fast, finished workman and is noted as a hard, straight hitter. He has met many of the notables of the ring and twice he has engaged Gradwell in combat. These battles were furious encounters, with each winning a decision. Tansey's quick knockout of Morlon, formerly of the notables of the ring and twice he has engaged Gradwell in combat. These battles were furious encounters, with each winning a decision. Tansey's quick knockout of Morlon, formerly of the notables of the ring and twice he has engaged Gradwell in combat.

A couple of light heavyweight, Eddie Leonard of Nashua and Battling McLeod of Cambridge are listed to person in the semi-final. Record has been winning consistently of late in his latest victim being Pat Hantz of Haverhill. McLeod also has quite an impressive record.

Brown to Box Conroy

As a result of his victory in Lowell over Roman Roche of Holyoke, New York, John Brown has been matched to meet Jimmy Conroy, formerly of New York in Holyoke on Friday night. Fans are anxious to get a look at the man who won over their favorite and they believe Conroy will be forced to show at his best. Conroy is now making his home at Holyoke and already he has become a popular performer. Conroy in his Holyoke bouts has defeated Roche, Earl Baird and Young Manly.

Quill and Boyle Rematched over the weight question, etc. Frankie Quill and Brockton and Phineas Boyle of Lowell have been rematched to box in Nashua on next Monday night. The first two fights were in a furious round bout that was ended in a draw. Friends of both claimed the decision was in error. Ever since that battle the rival boxers have been anxious for a return encounter. Conroy was said to have a big weight advantage on Boyle in the first battle and hence it was decided that he make weight for the next meeting. Finley will be deposited $100 to make 140 pounds ring-side. Boyle was agreeable to Boyle and articles were signed last night.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Relieved of Nervousness and Other Distressing Ailments by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound four years ago, and am taking it now for the Change of Life and other troubles and I receive great benefit from it. I am willing to let you use my letter as a testimonial because it is the truth. I found your booklet in my letter-box and read it carefully, and that is how I came to take the Vegetable Compound myself. It has given me quiet nerves so that I sleep at night, and a better appetite. I have recommended it already to all my friends and relatives."—Mrs. ENGLEMAN, 2032 Palmetto St., Ridgewood, Brooklyn, N. Y.

For the woman suffering from nervous troubles causing sleeplessness, headache, hysteria, the blues, "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound" will be found a splendid medicine. For the woman of middle age who is passing through the trials of that period, it can be depended upon to relieve the troubles common at that time. Remember, the Vegetable Compound has a record of nearly fifty years of service and thousands of women praise its merit, as does Mrs. Engleman. You should give it a fair trial now.

PRAY FOR WORLD PEACE

National Council of Catholic Women Announce Plans at Convention

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—A prayer for world peace during the period extending from Oct. 24 to Nov. 1, will be promoted over the country by the National Council of Catholic Women, under plans announced yesterday at the organization's annual convention here.

Mrs. Mitchell Gavin, of New York president of the council, announced the bishops of the Catholic Welfare Council had commissioned the women to promote a novena prayer and that steps to carry out the plan already had been taken. Bishop Joseph Schrembs, spiritual director of the organization, arraigned "birth control propaganda," and urged the council to combat it with all of its zeal. He also declared the government was spending millions to enforce the prohibition law "which everybody in his own heart knows is non-enforceable."

"And I notice," he added, "that men high in government positions who are saying they have got to enforce this law are breaking it before they say it or immediately after."

"There are a great many people who imagine that every ill must be cured by legislation," the bishop continued. "Now let me tell you, dear ladies, legislation will never cure anybody. Legislation was never intended to cure anybody. Legislation is the enactment of law for certain definite purposes, but that in itself is not going to make a saint out of anybody. These things have got to proceed from the innermost sources of individual morality, which is the heart of the individual man."

The convention also was addressed by Secretary Davis, who urged the women to assist in "humanizing" the immigration laws, and Mrs. Gavin, who reviewed the work of the council for the past year.

RIVER PIRATES LOOT STEAMER OF $11,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Quietly stealing along the freight steamer Bridgetown in a rowboat late Sunday night, a gang of river pirates, heavily armed with revolvers and knives, overpowered the crew and stole $11,000 in gold bars and platinum from the ship's strong box which they opened by means of acetylene torches. It was learned today.

The pirates clambered up the side of the vessel as she lay at her Brooklyn pier and caught one after another of the 11 members of the crew and one customs officer, stealthily gagging and binding each one of them so that the entire crew might not be around at once.

Then with the seamen securely trussed in corners, the pirates, numbering about 15, used acetylene torches to burn the hinges off the safe box. The precious metal which they obtained was assigned to a New York company and brought to this port from South America on Friday. A much larger quantity of gold ingots and platinum, it was stated, was removed from the strong box on Friday.

Police learned of the robbery when one of the sailors loosened the ropes with which he was bound and telephoned to police headquarters. The sailors said the pirates had worked efficiently and had not been brutal. They remained on board more than one hour.

FOUR LINERS ARRIVE

Many Immigrants Landed at Boston — 15-Months-Old Girl Traveled 15,000 Miles

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—Of the 2015 passengers arriving on the Cunard liner Samaria at East Boston yesterday morning, few could equal the sea-sick record of little Eva Battie. Although she is but 15 months old, she has traveled 15,000 miles over water, an average of 33 1/3 miles a day.

Her father, Dixon Battie, was an African trader. Following her birth in Umtata of the Congo region, the child has been traveling practically continuously. Mr. Battie made many trips up and down the east coast and his little daughter was always with him. Recently the family went to Capetown and from there to Barrow-Furness, Eng. After a short visit there, the family came to America, where Mr. Battie will take up work as a wood-fitter in Trenton, N. J.

Both little Eva's parents say that she is most happy when sailing at sea. They fear they will have some bother while she is being acclimated to solid earth.

Among the other interesting passengers on board were 8-year-old Betty Slater of Staffordshire, Eng., and her 3-year-old sister, Hilda, who traveled unaccompanied. The little girls' parents came to this country in July with their year-old son and settled in Chicago.

The White Star liner Celtic arrived here yesterday to put her host of immigrants ashore before the quota was exhausted. She docked at Commercial wharf about noon. On board were 201 first cabin, 394 second cabin and 1260 third-class passengers, a total of 1859.

Sir Andrew H. Pettigrew of Glasgow, who was chairman of the executive committee of the Y.M.C.A. of Scotland during the war and co-operated with the Y.M.C.A. of the other allies, arrived on the steamer with Lady Pettigrew for a two months' visit.

Sir William Lister, nephew of Lord Lister, and surgeon on board to His Majesty's household and surgeon in the Royal London Ophthalmic Hospital, was also a passenger, accompanied by Lady Lister. They came from London to attend the convention of eye specialists at Washington and will spend two months in this country.

Another passenger was Mrs. Page, widow of the American ambassador to England, who went to London to witness the unveiling of the memorial to her husband in Westminster Abbey.

Mrs. Page was accompanied by her five children, including Arthur W. Page, editor of the World's Work.

Shortly after noon the Anchor Line steamer Tuscania pulled into East Boston to land 430 passengers.

This was the first time that Capt. David J. Kane brought his vessel to the Hub port. He reported a death on board during the voyage, that of Steward Hamilton Cunningham, who was buried at sea with full honors.

The White Star Line steamer Megantic, from Liverpool and Glasgow, arrived later with 1481 passengers, most of whom are English, Scotch and Irish immigrants.

The passengers on the four arriving steamers numbered upward of 6000.

SEEK TRIO WHO ESCAPED FROM JAIL

DOVER-FONCROFT, Me., Oct. 2.—Deputy sheriffs and other officers were scouring this section of the state yesterday for three prisoners from the Piscataquis county jail. They are Joe Gaudette of Saco, Wilfred Therrien and Romeo Kelly of Lewiston, who Sunday night made their escape from the jail by sawing the bars of their cells. The three men had been held on charges of breaking and entering summer cottages at Moosehead lake.

Following their escape they are supposed to have entered the woods and made their way toward Grand and Dexter. All are thinly clad and are without funds.

Sheriff Macomber asked all police departments in this section of Maine to be on the watch for the trio.

Billy and Therrien weigh 110 pounds, while Gaudette weighs 165. Therrien and Kelly have black hair, closely clipped.

PRIZE-WINNERS of the FLEISCHMANN Yeast for Health CONTEST

The Fleischmann Health Contest closed August 15. But so tremendous was the response that the judges have been busy ever since—reading, comparing, deciding. Here finally, are the 153 prize-winners—selected after careful consideration of thousands and thousands of reports.

This Contest has given us a new conception of the unique place won by Fleischmann's Yeast in millions of American homes. With such nation-wide enthusiasm—with such unanimous tribute to the power of Fleischmann's Yeast—with such a host of men and women to whom this fresh natural food has given new health and joy in life—it has been exceedingly difficult to narrow down the selection to 153.

Our sincerest thanks to each and every one who took part. So excellent were hundreds of reports which must go unrecognized that we regret there weren't prizes for all; but we want the authors to know that none will go unappreciated. And as dozens of people put it "whether I get a prize in this Contest or not, Fleischmann's Yeast has given me the biggest prize already—the prize of perfect health!" ## READ THESE EXTRACTS FROM PRIZE-WINNING REPORTS:

"Constipation had become chronic," writes Mrs. Allan Ramsey. "As quickly as my system got accustomed to one remedy, I'd have to hunt a successor because it ceased to 'work.' Then she started eating Fleischmann's Yeast. In two months my internal economy was operating like a well-oiled motor. Today my complexion is clear, I no longer catch cold at the slightest provocation, and I have none of the old-time drowsy dullness that accompanies constipation."

"The age of miracles is still here," asserts a New England lawyer, Ellery H. Clark. "Inside of a fortnight after beginning the Yeast treatment, I noticed a distinct improvement in my health; in a month I was literally a new man. Within a year I had regained the lost twenty pounds;

my nerves steadied; my appetite returned. I am today in the pink of condition, and a convert for life to Fleischmann's Yeast."

"When I began eating Fleischmann's Yeast," says a western lumberman, Wesley Ray, "I weighed 135 pounds. Now I weigh 183. But it isn't the added weight I want to tell you about—it's the different feeling. Before I began Yeast I felt like, I imagine, an old broken-down draft horse feels. Now I feel like a 2-year old colt."

"Years of strong medicines had not only deprived me of health but had ruined my teeth," writes Mrs. B. M. Moore, a former trained nurse. "I first tried Fleischmann's Yeast in a glass of milk, then I took three cakes a day, and soon realized I had never been sick—I had been starved. Fleischmann's Yeast changed my life. Now I weigh 123 and still gaining. Husband has a 'new wife' and the children a happy, patient mother."

"I didn't mind getting gray, but oh! how I hated to be fat," writes Mrs. Florence A. Locke. "Now I can stoop without puffing and am as slim as when a girl. Since taking Fleischmann's Yeast, some folks say I am the busiest woman in town. I know I am the happiest!"

"Picture a girl of twenty," says Mrs. Vermet, of Montreal, "with a face, head, and neck covered with sores. You can understand I was cynical at first about Yeast. But three months later you'd never have known that I ever had been disfigured. I feel like standing on a mountain top and telling the world about it!"

MOVE TO FORCE TRIAL

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—A move for the arraignment of Dr. William M. Robb, on the charge of first degree murder in connection with the death of Mrs. Al-water, Merrimack river suit case victim, was made before Judge Shik in Cambridge superior court by District Attorney Arthur K. Readling.

At that time the court will consider the exceptions taken in behalf of Dr. Robb and Swowe to adverse decisions handed down last week by Judge McLeod, on motions to have the grand jury indictments of the physicians set aside, as illegal.

Mr. Readling will also ask for the arraignment of Dr. Swowe as necessary before and after the fact. It is expected that if the government is successful in its fight for immediate indictments, the suit against Dr. Swowe, Frederick K. Knutson, will make a plea for bail for its client.

CENTRALVILLE SOCIAL CLUB COMMITTEE

The committee of members of the Centralville Social club in charge of the arrangements for the big social to be conducted in the Associated hall on the evening of Oct. 15 for the benefit of the new building fund, met last evening in the quarters of the organization in West Sixth street and submitted reports, which were very encouraging.

In the course of the meeting plans to make the event most successful were discussed and sub-committees were appointed to look into the minor details. It was announced that the club has started a drive to enlarge its quarters, which are proving inadequate for the increase in membership. An appeal is being made to all members of the society to lend their cooperation in raising the necessary funds, which will go to make the clubrooms more attractive and more spacious.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON AMERICAN LEGION BALL FURTHER DEVELOPMENT OF BOMBING CRAFT

Sub-Committees Appointed Last Evening—Dedication of Squares Sunday

Weaver, general chairman, presiding, and named the various sub-committees for the coming event. The regular meeting of the post, scheduled for last night, was postponed until Friday evening.

Arrangements for the dedication of several squares next Sunday were completed and it is hoped that a large delegation of members will attend.

The sub-committees named at last night's meeting are as follows:

Ball committee: Colin H. MacKenzie, chairman; Robert J. Rudelka, John J. Walsh, William Regan, William Lyons, Dr. William Collins, Henry Sullivan.

Patronesses: George Robertson.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Army air service plans for the coming year contemplate further development of heavy bombing craft. It was learned today, and improvements in army pursuit type ships are expected to come largely from navy experience with the models it has entered in the St. Louis races. Chief interest in army circles centers about performance at St. Louis of the army observations type entry.

Limiting appropriations for engineering developments, it is said, has brought about an increased degree of co-operation between the army and navy air programs. While the army devoted much of its available funds to development of the rhino wheel in the races a year ago, the navy took over the single scatter developments this year, leaving the army free to work with bombing and observation planes. For that reason army air service officials, looking to find their chief competitors in the Italian entries.

Under the plan devised by Ambassador Woods, the American contingent is delivering supplies to the Japanese relief bureau and transferring hospitals to the Japanese as soon as their Red Cross is able to take them over.

The Japanese relief bureau stated that supplies needed for this winter will be purchased in America.

Election Held Under Guard

Continued

No Power to Prevent Election

Arranged against the executive are rulings of the state supreme court, the attorney general's department and the state election board. These hold, in effect, that once called, no man has the power to prevent an election.

W. C. McAllister, secretary of state election board, early today warned that any person who interferes with an election is subject to imprisonment and those who attempt to obstruct today's election, will be vigorously prosecuted.

"No man, not even the governor, can prevent an election," Secretary McAllister asserted.

Election Officers Threatened

Despite the warning, however, George D. Key, chairman of the Oklahoma county election board, reported that numerous election officials had been threatened in anonymous telephone calls and messages.

In Oklahoma City, where 4000 citizens with special commissions, wait to aid election officers, a woman, in whose home the ballot box for a township is placed, was warned by an unnamed letter to "get that box out of your house by morning or something will happen." In no case, it was said, have the threats been noticed.

Clash Narrowly Averted

A clash narrowly was averted at Tecumseh late last night when Sheriff Butler of Pottawatomie county, with 12 deputies went to the courthouse to obtain the ballot boxes for delivery to the election officials. He was met at the entrance by 60 armed men, said to have been acting under orders of the county attorney, who declared they had instructions to shoot to kill any one who attempted to touch the election supplies.

The sheriff went immediately before District Judge Hal Johnson at Chandler and obtained an injunction restraining any interference with the election. Early today, authorities reported that the election would be held.

MARY GARDEN PLEASURES LOWELL GIRL HONORED

Large Audience Delighted With Recital at Auditorium Last Evening

Giving unstintingly of her personality, her operatic ability and her voice, Mary Garden sang in the Memorial Auditorium last night before an audience which matched her charms with a warmth of greeting that could not be mistaken in its sincerity. She was assisted in the presentation of a most interesting program by Guita Casini, cellist, and Georges Lauweryns, pianist and accompanist.

The recital marked the opening of another Auditorium season and while the artists who will appear this winter may not be uniformly greeted by the capacity audiences which flocked to the hall last year—for at that time the hunger for good things was acute—the audience last evening was eminently satisfactory and filled about two-thirds of the available seats.

Gorgeously gowned in silver cloth, scarlet cut as to width and embellished with a girdle of brilliant and wearing a beautiful rope of pearls and a coronet of the same jewels, Miss Garden was dazzlingly attractive. Her gown bothered her just a bit, too, for on one or two occasions her foot tripped in it as she left the stage, but a toss of the head and a smiling smile completely covered up her temporary embarrassment.

The former leader of the Chicago Opera company has lost none of her operatic ability, nor has her voice been stripped of its charming quality. The notes in the lower register were particularly full and well rounded last night and when occasion demanded her top notes were equally as effective. Every number was exquisitely colored and phrased and when the score called for dramatic interpretation she gave it skillfully.

She chose first to sing the beautiful "Depuis le jour" aria from "Louise." She lived the Parisian atmosphere in which the opera is clothed, took full advantage of all opportunities for passionate expression and sang into it a complete appeal. She substituted an air from "La Boheme" for the aria from the second act of "Manon Lescaut" as was on the program and here, too, the theme was developed with rare skill and artistry. She added the Habanera from Carmen and later in the program followed it with the Siquidilla from the same opera. Two other groups embraced the "Zugzwang" of Strauss, Gretchen's "The Sleeper" and "Ondine" and the "Serenade" of Puccini's "La Boheme" by Massenet and Puccini's "Les Boreas" by J. A. Carpenter, and the Siquidilla from Carmen.

The assistance of Mr. Lauweryns at the piano cannot be overestimated. In addition his solo number, Liszt's "Hungarian" sur "Rhapsodie" was splendidly managed and Mr. Casini's "Serenade" was a distinct pleasure to hear again and to see her as well.

The local management was in the hands of John L. Donovan of Lawrence, who this year is presenting a star series which next brings to the city Maria Jeritza on October 24.

Ballaire of West Sixth street, went to Boston where she attended the marriage of her daughter, Gertrude, who at five o'clock Sunday afternoon, at St. Mary's church, became the bride of John J. Dwyer of Brookline. After a trip to New York and Detroit, the happy couple will make their home at Union Hill.

A pretty shower was held at the home of Mrs. James McCormick, 21 Arlington street in honor of Miss Mary Stullney. Her friends presented her a chest of silver. She responded in a fitting manner. The rooms were prettily decorated in hallways. Refreshments were served and games were played. A musical program was enjoyed with vocal and piano selections by the Misses Chata Peller, Ellen Quinn and May Moran. Those responsible for the affair were the Misses Jennie Kennedy, Catherine Mahan and Mary Mack.
